

EVENING SCHOOL TEACHERS ALARMED

Fear Future Examinations Will be Very Difficult and That New Teachers May Drop in

Teachers of evening schools, those who have been employed in that capacity for years, have, it is stated, expressed some fear of being replaced by new teachers on the waiting list. The cause of this fear is said to be contained in the belief held by some of the teachers to the effect that future examinations to determine eligibility for service in the evening schools will be more thorough than in former years; that they will embrace more subjects. According to the new rules of the school committee the examinations will be held under the supervision of an examining committee consisting of the superintendent of schools, the headmaster of the high school and the senior grammar master. Eligibility to fill any position in the evening elementary or evening high school shall be determined by examination adapted to the requirements of the various positions to be filled; but all candidates must be bona fide residents of Lowell.

Here is the whole story as told in section five of chapter five of the rules of the school committee.

Elementary Evening Schools

Between Aug. 20 and Aug. 30 of each year the superintendent shall issue a public advertisement announcing that on a stated date not earlier than Sept. 20 nor later than Sept. 30 next ensuing a public examination for the Lowell teachers' certificates of the fifth and seventh grades will be held in Lowell and that from those examined not more than a stated number—said number having been previously designated by the committee—will be appointed evening school teachers for the ensuing year or some part thereof. All applicants must signify their intention of taking the examination by notifying the superintendent in writing at least two weeks before the date of such examination, at which time the list will be closed and no new names added. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to require the advertisement or holding of such an examination if in the opinion of the committee no additional teachers will be required for the ensuing evening school year. Such examination shall be conducted by the superintendent of schools. The papers of applicants shall be identified by number only, and after correction the envelopes containing the names of the applicants shall be opened by the superintendent or some other person whom the committee shall designate in the presence and at a public meeting of the committee. At a subsequent meeting the committee shall elect in order of rank as many teachers as it may deem necessary.

In the examination of candidates for fifth grade certificates as assistants in the elementary evening schools, to be held in September, 1913, all holders of fifth grade certificates already issued and who have already served as regular teachers in the evening elementary schools shall be eligible, and if there should not be a sufficient number to meet the requirements of the evening schools any additional candidates for qualification in this examination shall be graduates of a normal school.

After the year 1913 all candidates for certificates of qualification as assistants in the evening elementary schools shall be graduates of a normal school.

Interpreters shall be elected by the school committee on the recommendation of the superintendent of schools. Principals of elementary evening schools. For the evening school season for the year 1913 and 1914 all holders of fifth grade certificates who have had previous experience as evening school principals shall be eligible to take the examination for qualification as principals in Lowell of evening elementary schools. In each subsequent evening school year only holders of first grade certificates will be eligible for qualification as evening elementary school principals.

School Committee Campbell said today that he had heard from some of the evening school teachers and the impression seemed to him, he said, that the examinations would be much more difficult this year. "I do not see that there is any ground for such belief," said Mr. Campbell. "They will not be put through any course of sprouts that is not necessary."

WOULD REDUCE FIRE INSURANCE RATES

Ald. Barrett Says Companies Should Recognize Improvements in Fire and Water Departments

Commissioner Barrett believes that the time has arrived when the citizens of Lowell ought to derive some direct benefit from changed conditions in both the fire and water departments and intimates strongly that he is of the opinion that insurance rates ought to be readjusted, and some recognition made by insurance companies of the improvements which the city council of Lowell has made possible in both the fire and water departments.

Without claiming to have made an exhaustive study of rates and insurance conditions generally, still, in view of the many changes, which have been made, he believes that even a cursory study of the facts must convince any impartial surveyor that the risk of loss by fire has been substantially decreased and that proper appreciation of the efforts of our city government for safer conditions ought to be shown by the different companies in the way of reduced rates.

In the following statement Mr. Barrett points out some important facts which seem to him to justify a request for lower insurance rates. He spoke as follows:

"With the modern and properly maintained fire and water departments, the risk of loss by fire has been substantially decreased and that proper appreciation of the efforts of our city government for safer conditions ought to be shown by the different companies in the way of reduced rates."

FIGHT ON WOOL AND COTTON

Eleven Progressive Republicans to Support Sen. LaFollette for Substitute Schedules

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Eleven progressive republican senators tentatively agreed today to support Senator LaFollette in his fight for substitute schedules on wool, cotton and several other sections of the tariff bill.

The conference marked the first effort on the part of the progressive-republican element to take a definite stand on the tariff revision.

Notes on amendments last week showed many progressive republicans at variance with the remainder of the republican side on certain items. It is understood now that an attempt will be made to substitute the LaFollette wool schedule for that which has already been introduced by Senator Smoot and which the latter expects to present as the republican measure.

In today's conference presided over by Senator Clapp were Senators Norah, Bristow, Crawford, Sterling, Cummins, Keayon, LaFollette, Gronna, Norris and Works.

Another conference will be held in a few days and each member will present amendments which he proposes to support in the senate.

Senator LaFollette outlined substitutes he will propose to the wool and cotton schedules next week, when he will begin his attack on these schedules to the democratic bill.

Senator Keayon will urge amendments placing wool on the free list all articles in control of a monopoly, one of them being aluminum. He expects to speak this week on the general policy of free list and all trust controlled commodities.

Senator Cummins has an amendment to tax all commodities sold through stock exchanges, similar to the cotton futures stamp tax included in the democratic bill.

threatened with destruction and themselves with prosecution.

"There is one thing which stands out clearly at this time and that is this: The administration would be supremely happy if it was well assured that the condition of the country would be no worse than it is today. It has no real hope that things will be better; it justly fears they will be worse and it is looking everywhere for some scapegoat for its own handiwork."

BRAKES FAILED TO WORK

Five Hurt in Car Crash in Boston Today

BOSTON, July 25.—Five persons were injured and taken to the hospital as the result of a rear-end collision between two open trolley cars in front of the South station this afternoon. An outward bound car had stopped to take on passengers when a following car dashed into it. The first car was badly smashed and many of the passengers thrown from their seats and bruised. Those requiring hospital treatment were suffering from broken legs and internal injuries.

It was stated that the brakes on the rear car failed to work.

BINGHAMTON INQUEST

Fifteen Witnesses Will be Called Tomorrow

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., July 25.—Owing to the inability of Coroner Ralph Seymour to be in the city today the coroner's inquest into the Binghamton Clothing Co. factory fire was postponed until tomorrow, when 15 witnesses will be called.

TO THE HOSPITAL

Went a Man Who Participated in an Outing at Lakeview Yesterday

There was an outing at Lakeview yesterday, and before the party returned to Lowell last night, one of the group was taken to the Lowell hospital, suffering with a broken leg and several injuries about the body, while another was also badly dealt with.

It is claimed that some of the men taking part in the outing got into a scuffle and some say that knives were in evidence in the course of the conflict. One man, a resident of West Centralville, was taken to the Lowell hospital in the ambulance, while another who was in no condition to remain on the grounds, was taken to his home.

Trainmen May Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Whether or not a strike shall be declared against the Northern Pacific company by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors is being decided here today by a canvass of the strike vote completed last week from the Gulf of Mexico to the Canadian boundary.

The result probably will not be known for 24 hours. The question at issue is whether the suburban trainmen and conductors shall receive equal rating, pay and promotion with main line employees.

PETER DONAHUE IN A TOUGH MIXUP

Two Woburn Men Fined $40 Each for Assaulting Him—Lakeview Officer Was Game

John Bradley and Chas. L. Noyes, two Woburn young men, received one of the heaviest fines that has been inflicted in police court this year when their case for assault and battery upon Officer Peter Donahue at Lakeview Park last night was heard before Judge Enright this morning.

Both defendants pleaded guilty to drunkenness as well as assault and battery upon the police officer. Superintendent Welch called Officer Donahue to the witness stand and the officer described to the court the stirring scenes of last night's conflict between himself and his two assailants. Told in Peter's own aggressive manner it is hard to conceive where the two defendants ever got the idea into their heads that they could jump upon him and get away with it.

The officer first arrested Bradley who was so drunk that he could barely manage to hold his feet under him. Noyes, however, who was one of a

SHOTS FIRED AT MEN NEAR POWDER HOUSE

Sentry at Superior Copper District Opened Fire on Men—State Troops Ready

CALUMET, Mich., July 25.—The first shots of the strike in the Superior copper district were fired early today at the Isle Royale mine. A sentry guarding a powder house detected several men approaching the place and fired when they failed to heed his command to halt. The intruders fled and a company of guardsmen scoured the district for half a mile in all directions but without making any arrests.

Operators made an effort today to resume work in the mines. Out on the south range the first task of the operators was to replace on the cables the heavy scoops which had been dropped down the shafts last Friday at the command of strikers.

The mine pumps were working at Champion, Ballick and Tri-Mountain in that section and at several locations in the north of the county. Another mine where water began to come into the shafts was the Hancock. In most of the locations groups of non-union men, closely watched by union members, gathered to discuss the advisability of returning to work.

The state troops were ordered ready for instant service at all the militia camps but their aid was not needed.

UNITED STATES WINS DWIGHT DAVIS CUP

Recaptured International Lawn Tennis Trophy From England by McLaughlin's Great Work

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 25.—The United States team today recaptured the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy from England by adding a victory by Maurice E. McLaughlin of San Francisco over Charles P. Dixon to the singles match and doubles match already won, thus gaining the three matches out of the series of five necessary to carry off the cup.

The United States lost the cup to England in 1904. Australia took it away from England in 1907 and held it until 1912, when it was won again by England.

The preliminary contest this year had been participated in by seven nations: The United States, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Germany, France and Belgium. The United States team fought its way through to the final round where it met and defeated Canada and thus gained the right to challenge the English holders, whom it met and outplayed.

The scoring in the match which clinched the cup victory for the United States follows:

World's Tennis Championship

The Davis cup, emblematic of the world's team championship in lawn tennis which returns to this country after an absence of 10 years, was first put in play in 1900. The trophy—a massive silver bowl—was the gift of Dwight F. Davis, who donated it with the idea of stimulating international competition in the court game. The success of the plan was assured from the beginning. During the 13 years which have elapsed since the gift the cup has been in play 13 seasons. The United States and England and Australia have all in turn won and lost the prize, which has proved to be the most widely and frequently played-for international trophy on record.

During 1900 and 1902 the United States team successfully defended the cup against the attack of the British Isles players in 1903, the Doherty brothers carrying it away to England. During the next four years the United States and Australian players led the series for the cup and finally in 1909 the famous Antipodean players, Brookers and Wilding, took the cup to Australia. There it stayed until last winter when the English team, consisting of Parke, Dixon and Beamish, won it for the British Isles.

INDICT ALLEGED INCENDIARIES

Grand Jury Returns Indictments Against Men For Defrauding Insurance Companies

CHICAGO, July 25.—When the grand jury met today it returned a number of indictments against alleged incendiaries who had been defrauding insurance companies. Joseph Fish, head of the firm of Joseph Fish & Co., fire insurance adjusters was named in true bills which charged arson, burning to defraud, conspiracy to obstruct public justice and accessory after the fact.

Immediately following the return of true bills in court capcases for the arrest of the persons indicted were issued.

David Korlak, fugitive firebug, who is reported to be in Canton, Chi., conducting a saloon and Israel Schaffner and Benjamin Fink, alias Franklin, were among the other defendants. Schaffner is being sought by the police but Fink is in custody and will testify as a state's witness.

PENDING TARIFF BILL CONDEMNED

Senator Townsend Says Bill Was Brought Forth in Darkness of Secret Caucus Chamber

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Townsend of Michigan, in a speech in the senate today characterized the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as the Gettysburg where the factions of the republican party were formed in battle array that led to the triumph of the democratic party, giving it an opportunity to write the pending tariff bill, which he condemned.

"This bill," Senator Townsend said, "was conceived in hatred of the American policy of protection and brought forth in the darkness of the secret caucus chamber under the professional charge of one who has never had any experience in business obstructions. Is it any wonder that that thing is misshapen and deformed; is it any wonder American progress and prosperity look with disfavor on it?"

Senator Townsend also criticized "executive interference" and caucus domination. Injecting comments on the lobby in quity in the senate and house, Senator Townsend said that criticism of improper action should be based upon unquestioned facts and not upon innuendo or falsehood, and continued: "Today as at all times in the past the sensational is too prominently featured and too little attention given to the truth. Indeed, a saturnalia of abuse and misrepresentation seems to be reigning and congress has been stampeded into investigations of itself and the two houses are struggling between themselves to get possession of self-convicted scoundrels who have capitalized for financial gain the existing disposition to abuse the national legislature."

"If business disaster prematurely comes," says the senator, "it's coming would be due more to the off-exposed fears of this administration than to any efforts by wicked business men who as patriots are expected to be happy, the while their business is

Badly Damaged

An automobile owned and driven by John Loiret of this city, who is summering at Great Boar's Head, became unmanageable yesterday near Newcomb avenue, Hampton beach, and before the driver could shut off his engine the car had crashed into the circular boat swing, badly damaging the former and smashing parts of the big swing.

The accident was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators, and it was fortunate that the damage was no more serious in nature, as several might have been run down by the big machine. The car was towed to a nearby garage and repairs were made.

General Pearson Orders
180,000 Rounds of Rifle

WAREHAM, July 28.—All the military organizations in camp here spent the forenoon in routine work and company drills, each having its individual program.

While the second regiment from the western part of the state enjoyed the best climatic conditions, the position at Fair Haven proved so restrictive that the commanding officer sought other camp grounds. The fifth regiment at West Barnstable held close order drill and the ninth regiment at Sandwich was put through extended evolutions. In preparation for the battle on Saturday afternoon General Pearson has assembled here 150,000 rounds of rifle and 50,000 rounds of revolver ammunition.

FIRE INSURANCE RATES

equipped apparatus which has been put into service and the additional pieces which are in contemplation for our city, there is no question but that the fire protection has been very much improved and the liability of loss by fire greatly decreased. Any well informed citizen must admit this fact and recognize that our property is much better protected than would have been the case under previous conditions. In addition our new telephone system will enable us to receive telephone alarms and to have our fire fighting force on their way to the fire in much quicker time than was possible before. Inquiry at the telephone office will show what an improvement has been made there. When the new arrangement by which our city is laid out into districts and in which the boxes changed to conform with these districts the danger of mistake of the location of a fire will have been reduced to the smallest possible liability, and every improvement has been made which experience has taught our sister cities is necessary to properly protect a city against fire loss.

Again, the policy of gradually changing our call force into a permanent part of our department, doing by results obtained in other municipalities, must result in better service, and also, provides that men who have given their best efforts to the department as call men will be given the first chance to come into the department as regular firemen. So that, taken all together, conditions show to me conclusively that our fire department is better equipped to give that service which the citizens have a right to expect from a department which they have so generously supported.

Now, then, as to the water supply. In case of fire: The opening of our new reservoir, in November, 1912, gave us an initial increase of pressure of from 10 to 12 pounds and the policy of laying new and enlarged mains in all parts of the city has resulted in very largely increasing the efficiency of the fire department. Let me point out some of the principal changes which have been made already, and others which will be completed by the end of the year.

A new 12-inch main is laid in Pawtucket street from Merrimack to Arlington streets and a 10-inch main from Arlington street to School street, thereby increasing the supply in Pawtucket street and reinforcing every street which connects with said street because on that job and every other one, the policy of the water department is to connect all streets and thereby benefit the entire section. A 12-inch main on Hale street was extended through and into Chelmsford street. In Church street a 16-inch main, which formerly ended at Lawrence street, was extended to Central street, thereby greatly increasing our supply in that locality, and this year a 16-inch main will be extended through Appleton street to Chelmsford street, then over the Boston & Maine tracks to Westford street, and along Westford street to Howard street, and so carrying sufficient supply both for domestic uses and for fire protection into the Highlands from the easterly side.

Plans Further Extensions

Plans for further extensions along Howard and Tanner streets to connect with a street with the large main from the Cook well plant have been drawn and, in the near future, this section of the city will be fully supplied for all purposes. On Dutton street work was started at the gate of the Saco-Lowell shops in September, 1912, and the 16-inch main which started there was extended along Dutton street to Fletcher street, then along Fletcher street to Rock street, through Rock street to School street, through School street to Broadway to Wilder street and as far as Princeton street. Every citizen who is interested in the welfare of the city must appreciate the importance of the work, consider the importance of value of the property through which this line traverses and one must admit the immense value of it as a protective measure reinforcing, as it does, every street from the Saco-Lowell shops to Princeton street, in the heart of the Highlands and making every hydrant along that line four times as efficient in case of fire.

Last, but by no means least, comes the 24-inch main which, before 1911, will be carried across the Merrimack River at Alken street. At present, except while the Cook wells are in operation and with the exception of a small pipe on Central bridge, the only city is dependent on a single line crossing the river at or near Hunt's falls, and in the summer of 1912, while some changes were being made at the reservoir, the inadequacy of present conditions was made apparent. When the new crossing is made, in case of accident to our reservoir or lower crossing, which has been in use now over forty years, it will be possible to pump directly into our city mains and the weakest spot in our water system will be eliminated. This 24-inch main which will cross at Alken street will be connected at 1 and 2nd streets with two twenty-inch mains, which are long along and through the corporation to Bridge street, which line was built some years ago for the protection of the mills. The other twenty-inch main was extended last year from Cabot and Moody streets through Cabot street to Adams street, and along Adams street to Cross street, and this year be finished to Liberty square to connect with the line previously referred to which runs from the Saco-Lowell shops to Princeton street.

Some Smaller Improvements

Together with these larger improvements many others have been made such as a 12-inch line on Gorham street, from South street to Davis square, connecting Middlesex street and Princeton boulevard, giving better supply and removing dead ends on those streets; removing from a number of streets 4-inch pipes and substituting larger mains so that hydrants might be installed; laying some thousands of six, eight and ten inch pipe in new streets, and otherwise doing everything that the growth of our city and its further development demand in the way of service and protection. This year 25 new hydrants have been installed, all of which tend to better protection in case of fire. One very important point in connection with this description of the work of the water department is the fact that all expenses of the department are provided by its revenues, as it receives no appropriation from the city.

Conference on Mexican Situation Held—President Does Not Be- lieve Public Mind is Excited

WASHINGTON, July 28.—President Wilson does not believe that the public mind in the United States is excited over the situation in Mexico nor is he convinced that a crisis has been reached in the revolution itself. This information was obtained in official circles today with an authoritative denial that any proposal looking toward a cooperation between American military forces and the Mexican government for the restoration of peace had been suggested.

Two Wilsons to Meet
Those who approached the president today on the Mexican situation found him disinclined to discuss it as later he was to confer with Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson. Secretary Bryan arranged to see the president before the conference. The secretary also continued his reticence on Mexican affairs.

It was learned at the White House, however, that reports crediting Ambassador Wilson with having advocated a set of proposals contemplating military co-operation at Mexico or intervention were unfounded. The president has received from Ambassador Wilson a historical account of events in Mexico in the last three years.

Ambassador Reticent
The ambassador himself said today he had not mentioned any remedies on the situation to anyone and had not even put on paper the plans he had in mind. He reserved these, he said, for his personal interview with the president.

Contradictory information has reached the Washington government regarding the stability of the Huerta administration. It was said today to be a question of reliability of informants. Officials were determined to infer which reports were being credited. It was said, however, that in the last ten days there had been little or no change in the status of affairs in the southern republic.

Serious Incident
The shooting of Charles Dixon, Jr., at Juarez is regarded as a serious incident; but its bearing on the general Mexican situation is being minimized by officials here today as the American demand for the investigation and punishment of the offenders apparently were being complied with.

At the White House it was said the United States would pursue a course of diligent inquiry into the affair and would insist on summary action to the guilty.

COMMANDER OF AMERICAN SQUAD-

RON AT MEXICO, REPORTS

ALL IS QUIET

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Admiral Cowles, commanding the American squadron off the Pacific coast of Mexico reported to the navy department today that all is quiet at Guaymas but that he is without word as to conditions in Topolombampo.

COL. A. H. GOETTING

A Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Lieutenant-Governor Makes Formal Announcement

Col. A. H. Goetting of Springfield makes the following statement: "Upon the advice of Republicans in all parts of the state, I have decided to be a candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant-governor. Ordinarily that office calls for the discharge of only such duties as fall to a member of the governor's council. To that body the eighth councillor district has elected me five consecutive times, which seems to warrant the assumption that my service to the district has been satisfactory. If experience counts it should have brought qualifications for further similar service to the public.

"If as lieutenant-governor I should have occasion also to discharge the duties of chief executive it would be my hope that familiarity with the affairs of the commonwealth, gained by an active participation in its public life, extending over more than 20 years, would prove to have fitted me for the performance of those duties. This hope is strengthened by the proofs of confidence that my neighbors in western Massachusetts from time to time have been kind enough to give. Their approbation is my credential to voters in other parts of the state, where my opportunity for personal acquaintance has not been great.

Should it appear that western Massachusetts presents no other candidate for the first two places on the republican ticket, it would be my further hope that my candidacy might fairly be inferred to represent the desires of a region that contributes materially to the party strength in the state. I think it has been my good fortune to receive in this region the support not only of avowed republicans, but also of many voters not so aligned. If the approval of my candidacy by the republicans of the state should bring support to the whole ticket from my friends in the western counties it would be indeed a source of gratification to me.

Williams a Candidate

Rev. Charles H. Williams of Billerica, who served last year as representative for the 19th Middlesex district in the Massachusetts house of representatives, announces that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination in that district for a second term.

RAIDS MADE AT REVERE BEACH

Police Active From Early Morning Till Late at Night

Find Gaming and Seize Vast Quantity of Liquor

REVERE, July 25.—Obeying the orders of the board of selectmen, Capt. Claire P. Chalmers, acting chief of police of this town, kept his entire police force busy all day yesterday raiding alleged illegal resorts, and when he had finished he had visited 15 places, being successful in half of them. Two were gaming raids and the remainder were raids for liquor.

The activities of the police created considerable of a sensation and in some instances thousands of pleasure seekers at the beach witnessed the performances of the police and applauded them vociferously.

The raiding squads were headed by Capt. Chalmers, Inspector William E. Tappan, Lieut. William Devine and Sergt. John Blythe.

Capt. Chalmers began his operations against the promoters of illegal places early in the morning, and all through the day the police automobile was racing about the town, and the people were thrown into a high pitch of excitement by the activities of the officers. When the policemen finished their work at dusk they were a tired lot, but they received some consolation when they viewed the fruits of their labors.

There were more than 1000 bottles of beer and ale and considerable hard liquor in the liquor room at the station house, confiscated during the day's operations. The liquors were carefully piled about the station house as well as in the liquor room, which was not large enough to hold all the confiscated goods.

Two of the raids were made on the Revere beach building in mid-afternoon, when there were nearly 250,000 persons on the beach. A crowd of many thousand persons gathered in front of the places that were being raided and the Metropolitan park police had great difficulty in holding back the surging crowd to clear a passage for the town officers to carry the cases of beer to the patrol wagon at the curb.

The boulevard is ordinarily within the jurisdiction of the park police, but the two officers can make raids there if they see fit. There was no clash between the police authorities, and Supl. Herbert W. West of the Metropolitan park police said after the raids were finished that he consulted the town police on their work and would be glad if they secured a conviction. "Between the two of us, we ought to clear the beach up and keep it so," said Chief West.

GIRL DRANK CARBOLIC ACID

Young Nurse Student Committed Suicide in Boston Hotel

Left Note Saying "Don't Blame Billy"—Police Looking for Man

BOSTON, July 25.—Rose T. Fiverson, a 20-year-old girl of Hartford, Conn., training to be a nurse, committed suicide at the Castle Square hotel yesterday by drinking carbolic acid, apparently the result of a suicide pact.

"Don't blame Billy, I am dying with a clear mind. I have contemplated suicide for some time," said a note she left on the bureau.

Previous to the discovery of the girl in a dying condition, the man who accompanied her to the hotel left appearing to be in great pain, and saying he was going after a doctor. He did not return.

While she was dying at the hotel, her family in Hartford left for Boston, saying they were going to see Rose. This was hours before she died and long before she was identified, which leads the police to think she may have notified her family of her intent. The family could not be located last evening.

This is Miss Fiverson's second known attempt at suicide. About two weeks ago Miss Rita Ryan, 333 Dudley street, Roxbury, with whom Miss Fiverson roomed at the hospital, where both were studying, came into the room just in time to snatch a bottle of carbolic acid from her lips.

The attendants of the hotel employees were attracted to the suicide by groans. The girl was calling for someone. "Billy, dear, why don't you come?" she was saying. They hurriedly forced the door.

"Mother, mother, I am coming," were her last words as she relapsed into unconsciousness.

The case is wrapped in mystery. Just who "Billy" is, is not known. Neither is G. W. Mann of Shelbyville, Indiana, whom she asked to have notified of her death.

DIED TOGETHER

Dog and Hen Burned in Barn Fire in Draught Saturday Evening—Cattle Were in Pasture

Several hens and a valuable dog perished in a barn fire in Draught Centre Saturday night. The property was owned by Mr. John Graves and only the quick response of the firemen saved the house from being destroyed.

Just how the fire started is not known, the only person being near the premises at the time being the daughter of Mr. Graves, who immediately summoned aid upon discovering the blaze. It was only a matter of a few minutes before the whole structure was destroyed as it contained several tons of hay that had been put in the barn within the last few days. Fortunately the cattle were in the pasture at the time of the fire or the loss would have been much heavier.

MRS. C. A. BECKER, WIFE OF POLICE OFFICER IN SING SING OFTEN VISITS HIM

OSSENING, N. Y., July 26.—Mrs. Charles A. Becker, wife of the New York police lieutenant in the death house at Sing Sing under sentence for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, is a frequent visitor at the prison, and she spends as much time with her husband as the rules permit. She appears cheerful and seems confident that her husband's appeal will be successful and that he will get a new trial. This picture was made on a recent visit on which she was accompanied by John Becker, her husband's brother.

Forest Notes

The national forests of Chile cover about 1,000,000 acres.

The forest service of India has demonstrated that tankwood grown in plantations is just as strong as that grown in natural forests.

Even the well-protected forests of Germany are by no means immune from fire, and the Prussian fire protection system makes use of lookout towers and telephones.

Much of the so-called silk nowadays is made of wood. Germany produces more than one million pounds of this cellulose silk, worth $1,500,000. A ton of wood worth $10 yields cellulose worth $20, and this cellulose yields silk worth $350.

Army bayonets now form part of the emergency telephone outfit of forest rangers, and chiefly in fighting fires. This emergency line consists of small instruments and a coil of fine copper wire. The wire is attached to the nearest telephone line, the bayonet is thrust into moist ground at the other end, and with the circuit thus completed the ranger can talk with headquarters, report his position, and summon fire fighters if necessary.

WASHINGTON - MINISTER Tells How to Make Religion Attractive

Chalmette Sends Wireless For Assistance

NEW YORK, July 25.—The steamer Chalmette from New Orleans for New York went ashore during the night on the New Jersey coast on Barnegat. In response to a wireless call from the vessel early today a tug was dispatched.

News of the Chalmette's plight was received by her owners, the Southern Pacific Co., in a wireless message from Captain P. M. Midlow. The message said simply:

"Ashore off Barnegat. Send tug. At the offices of the Southern Pacific company it was said that the steamer probably was not in a dangerous position, otherwise Captain Midlow would have made his message more urgent."

The Chalmette sailed from New Orleans July 23 and was due here today. She carried a cargo of general merchandise and a crew of 48 but no passengers. She is a boat of 5013 tons, 321 feet long, built at Philadelphia in 1879.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—A long distance telephone message from the Little Egg lifesaving station on the New Jersey coast states that the steamer Chalmette is not on the Barnegat shore but near the beach between Barnegat and Loveladies Island lifesaving stations 20 miles north of Little Egg. The sea is smooth and the vessel is in no immediate danger. A volunteer crew is standing by the Chalmette.

STEAMER WENT ASHORE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Leo M. Frank Was Arraigned Today

ATLANTA, Ga., July 25.—Prosecution and defense were ready today for the trial of Leo M. Frank, charged with the murder of 11-year-old Mary Phagan. The girl's body was found Sunday morning April 27 in the basement of the National Pencil Co.'s plant, where she was employed. Frank, who was superintendent of the factory, was indicted on a charge of murder May 21.

The most damaging testimony against him probably will be the statement of James Conley, a negro sweepster at the factory, that he helped Frank dispose of the body. Frank expects to prove an alibi.

A Campaign Book on Education

As an aid to the campaign in behalf of better educational facilities, the United States bureau of education has just issued a bulletin "Expressions on Education by American Statesmen and Publicists." The book is a collection of notable utterances on education by prominent Americans from the earliest days to the present.

Beginning with Franklin, Washington, Adams and Jefferson, all of whom were firm believers in popular education, the document quotes opinions on education from a long line of distinguished Americans, including John Jay, Madison, Monroe, Albert Gallatin, DeWitt Clinton, Archibald Murphree, Father of the North Carolina common school, Calhoun, Webster, Buchanan, Thaddeus Stevens, the champion of public schools in the early days of Pennsylvania; Edward Everett, George Peabody, the philanthropist; Horace Mann, and M. B. Lamar, president of the republic of Texas.

Coming to more modern times, the following are represented: William H. Seward, Robert H. Lee, who gave the last years of his life to the cause of education and urged the "thorough education of all classes of the people"; Lincoln, who viewed education as "the most important subject which we as a people can be engaged in"; Charles Sumner, Calvin Wiley, who considered it the lasting honor of his state that "her public schools survived the terrible shock of war"; General Grant, who commended the progress of the public schools in a message to congress; Rutherford B. Hayes, Senator Benjamin Harvey Hill, of Georgia, who said that "education is the one subject for which no people ever yet paid too much"; William Henry Burrier, of Virginia; J. L. M. Curry, who considered it "the prime business and duty of each generation to educate the next"; Henry W. Grady, Governor of Georgia; Governor Hancock, who fell dead at Birmingham, Ala., with the word "education" on his lips; and other leading Americans who have urged the extension of educational opportunities, frequently in the face of strong opposition.

A few conspicuous men now living are given space in the bulletin for their utterances on education. There are significant passages from President Woodrow Wilson and former President Roosevelt and Taft; from Charles W. Eliot, of Harvard; from Ambassador Walter H. Page, who has been one of the leaders in the educational regeneration in the south; Charles W. Dabney, president of the University of Cincinnati; Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia; James B. Frazier, of Tennessee; Dean Liberty H. Bailey, of Cornell; and President Edwin A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia.

ANOTHER GREEK VICTORY

And the North Common Was Scene of Battle

A most interesting situation was brought about on the North common Saturday, through the issuance of a permit for the use of the best baseball diamond on the common to a ball team composed of Greeks, by Superintendent of Parks John W. Kernan. From the story told Sergeant Petrie, who happened along about the time that the argument began, it seems a team composed of young men claiming to be citizens of the city, tried to get possession of the grounds from the Greeks who had a permit and in addition to the permit had been occupying the grounds for some time before the members of the other teams put in an appearance.

Immediately the Greeks believed that they were being imposed upon, and sought an officer to have the situation straightened out. Sergeant Petrie was called and they explained the matter to him and also showed him their permit allowing them the privilege of the grounds for a game this afternoon. Of course, when the permit was shown the sergeant, and he saw it was genuine, he told the team "composed of citizens," that while their argument relative to their rights as taxpayers and citizens of the country was a very plausible one, they would have to give way to the other team for the permit would have to be obeyed.

The Greeks again took the grounds and proceeded to indulge in a little preliminary practice. While the members of the other team reluctantly left the grounds, claiming that their rights were being usurped by others not entitled to them. There were many threats of "going to men higher up and speaking about the matter." It was said that the Greeks were to play a team composed of Poles, but this could not be verified, for the Greeks were too much interested in retaining ownership of the grounds to converse on other topics.

DR. JOHN CORBETT DEAD

MILITIAMAN SHOT IN THE BACK

Private Involved in Quarrel With Post Card Dealer Received Bullet From Policeman

WAREHAM, July 28.—The minute war which began yesterday with the arrival of 6000 militiamen on the shoulder end of Cape Cod was given a touch of realism today when Private Harrington of the ninth regiment received a bullet in the back from the revolver of Policeman M. J. Murphy of Sandwich.

The shooting took place in the village of Sagamore, a few hours after midnight. According to the officers of the regiment, Harrington, with several others became involved in a quarrel with a postcard dealer, who called for help. Murphy responded and claims to have fired four shots in the air. One of the bullets was deflected and hitting Harrington, inflicted a deep flesh wound. The soldier was sent to Boston on the first morning train. Later Murphy was arraigned in the Barnstable court, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. He pleaded not guilty and was released on $200 bail, pending a further investigation.

EL PASO, Texas, July 28.—Charles B. Dixon, Jr., the United States immigration inspector who was shot in Juarez, Mexico, Saturday by Mexican soldiers, was released from the Juraz permitted to be brought to El Paso without delay, the consul said relative to a repatriation.

"I do not merely request the arrest of these men, but in the name of the United States government, which I demand their immediate arrest and their trial and punishment for this crime. My government will hold the military authorities of Juarez personally responsible for failure to obey this command."

PANIC WAS AVERTED

Owner Announces Holiday as Building Burns

NEW YORK, July 28.—Seventy-five men and girls employed by Levine, Melikow & Co. making clothes on the fifth floor of a loft building were surprised yesterday noon when Morris Levine, head of the firm, suddenly announced that everybody could have a half-holiday.

"They lost no time in getting downstairs, and as they reached the sidewalk they saw the fire engines dash up and smoke pouring from the windows of the floor just below where they had been at work."

Levine had found that the building was afire and had taken this means to get his employees out without a panic. The firemen put out the blaze after it had done about $10,000 damage. Had the clothing workers stayed in the building a few minutes longer their escape would have been cut off.

27 INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Five Passenger Coaches Overturned Near Eldorado, Colo.

Six of the Injured Persons Not Expected To Live

BOULDER, Colo., July 28.—Twenty-seven passengers were injured, six probably fatally, when five coaches of the Denver, Boulder & Western train overturned near Eldorado, Colo., yesterday. In the five coaches were 125 passengers, mostly tourists from the east.

The train left El Dorado about noon and was attempting to make the customary return when the rear coach left the track. The train crew endeavored to draw the coach back upon the track, when it overturned and carried with it the next four cars.

JOHN DOUGH IN TOWN

Man of the Yeast is Going West

If you see the staff of life perambulating about the streets just say "Hello Jack," and the man of bread, "John Dough," will answer you. John Dough's right name is Jack Kelly and he hails from York, Pa. He is advertising Fleischmann's yeast and just for that he makes a specialty of visiting grocery stores and bakeries. He left Tampa, Fla., Jan. 3, 1910, and he expects to reach San Francisco for the world's fair in 1915. He came here from Lawrence and he will visit every city of importance in the United States. He wears a paper mache costume representing the various loaves of bread, which weighs 13 lbs. Jack Kelly, alias John Dough, says that the fellow who eats lots of bread can laugh at the high cost of living, for his bread costume he is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. He has just the right crust and is more than half baked.

TROLLEY POLE LIGHTS

Lowell Man Says That Scheme is Feasible

The Bay State Street Railway company refuses to allow the city to attach lights to its poles in Merrimack square on the ground that it would not be practicable to have street lights attached to trolley poles. There are many who hold to the belief that the plan is a satisfactory one and the municipal council is going to look into the matter. At a hearing before Alderman Cummings a week or so ago an electrical engineer for the Bay State Street railway stated that his company did not want to take the responsibility of lights on trolley poles. The scheme works well in Fitchburg. Based on his observation in Fitchburg a prominent business man of this city is satisfied that the plan is satisfactory and if it could not be carried out here he would like to be shown why not.

MURPHY AT IT AGAIN

Asks for Special Meeting of National Commission to Consider Charges Regarding Chicago Gamblers

CHICAGO, July 28.—President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals has asked for a special meeting of the national commission to consider charges that local gamblers receive inside information on the lineup of the Cubs. He wrote today to President Herrmann of the commission stating that an immediate investigation should be made.

"I do not understand how anyone connected with the team could be in league with the gamblers because even I do not know who is going to pitch until the game is about to start," said Murphy, "but it seems there is a leak somewhere."

Forest Flames Make Trouble for Fire Dept.

ST. ANNE'S MISSION HELD SUCCESSFUL PICNIC

St. Andrew's Church Planning Field Day to Be Held at Pinehurst Park Next Week

A brush fire, which burned over 100 acres of timber and brush kept the Billerica fire department busy for over 24 hours Saturday and Sunday. The blaze is said to have started from a spark from a passing engine and it was necessary for the railroad to send a crew of men from Boston to extinguish the flames.

The blaze started on land owned by John Finnegan in North Billerica about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and it was fought by the North Billerica department for over three hours when another alarm was sent in and the apparatus of Billerica Centre responded. About 8 o'clock at night the flames were controlled and the spot in the care of three or four men, who watched the forests until about nine o'clock in the morning when they were ordered off duty by Chief Bartlett.

Hardly had the men returned to the village when the fire broke out again and spread through the pine forests into East Billerica. Several camps in the vicinity of Long pond were threatened and the furniture was removed to other parts, but none was destroyed. The Billerica fire department worked hard during the day and in the afternoon with the help of some section men who were sent from Boston, the blaze was extinguished. The loss will be considerable as some well grown timber was destroyed. John Finnegan of North Billerica will probably be the heaviest loser.

HAVOC WITH POTATO CROP

A Warning Against the Tuber Moth

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Warning against a pest that threatens every dinner table in the land was issued today by the department of agriculture against the potato tuber moth, which is working havoc with the potato crop in numerous parts of this country and whose ravages threaten to prevent the planting of the vegetable in many places of the winter supply. The pest is especially prevalent in California and Texas, the department reports, and through shipments of early potatoes it is being introduced broadcast throughout the United States.

Experts of the bureau of entomology urge potato growers to look carefully over the potatoes they dig and destroy every potato and vine that shows the slightest sign of the moth.

CHECK FOREST FIRE

1000 Acres of Wood and Brush Burned

LEOMINSTER, July 28.—The forest fire which threatened to destroy several farm buildings in the Notowidig district last night was believed to be under control early today. None of the buildings was damaged.

The fire broke out last Tuesday and since that time more than 1000 acres of wood and brush land have been burned. A hundred firemen and volunteers fought the flames throughout the night.

THE LOWELL SUN

THE NEW HAVEN HEAD

In the selection of Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, to fill the position vacated by the resignation of the much-criticized Mr. Mellen, the generally expected as well as the generally desired has come to pass. Since the announcement of Mr. Mellen's resignation, Mr. Elliott's name has been most persistently mentioned in the press as his probable successor, and the past career of the new president was regarded as a favorable augury for future development of the New Haven railroad along the lines desired by the public. Whether in the capacity of "president" or "chairman of the board," Mr. Elliott has a splendid opportunity to make himself famous and give splendid public service, but the task before him is by no means slight.

In the present state of public opinion regarding the affairs and past management of the New Haven railroad the path that Mr. Elliott must travel may at first sight seem to be filled with serious obstructions, but many of these will disappear as readily as they sprang into being. Rightly or wrongly much of the blame for the past unsatisfactory conditions was put on the shoulders of Mr. Mellen personally, and his retirement removed some of the adverse sentiment automatically. It is well as the interstate commerce commission and Mr. Elliott himself have declared, that the public attitude be justly critical until general conditions improve somewhat, but this is certainly not the time for an unreasonable attitude on the part of the public; the demands made on the new president should not be too numerous or impracticable.

Mr. Elliott is one of the most popular railroad men in the country at the present time and the reason is not far to seek. He is frank and open in his business dealings; he is a respecter of law; he keeps in touch with public opinion; he accepts personal responsibility for his official actions. He has dealt with railroad problems as a business proposition rather than as a more or less visionary scheme of abstract financial speculation. He is optimistic and resourceful. He has been phenomenally successful in dealing with the railroad problems of the northwest, and he is sanguine about the prospects of the railroads of New England. The fact that he is of a Cambridge family and a Harvard graduate will create a favorable attitude towards him in New England, and he will feel that in his new and onerous tasks he may count on the sympathy and healthy co-operation of the leading business men and the general public of this region. He is the right man for the place and the prospects for his future success are promising.

It ought to be the first aim of the new president to square his plans for constructive development with the laws of the commonwealth. If it is seen as unfortunately it was seen in Mr. Mellen's time, that there is a tendency on the part of the railroad managers to disregard or evade federal or state regulations in letter or spirit, the public will resent it, and public resentment can again bring about the chaotic conditions which have obtained too long in local railroad affairs. If Mr. Elliott finds any injustice in the law, he ought to take the people into his confidence; by this method of hearty and open dealing better and fairer conditions can be brought about. The business interests of the commonwealth must realize that an efficient railroad will mean business efficiency, and municipalities and all civic bodies should do everything in their power to help the new president in the gigantic task that confronts him. If he meets with the right kind of public support he will succeed rapidly where Mr. Mellen failed. He has a vivid example of what he ought not to do before him, and he is the man to profit by it. Let us all help him.

UNDESIRABLE DEVELOPMENT

We are all familiar with the glaring headlines that announce the "development" of a large tract of land by some out of town concern which counts on reaping a good margin of profit from its speculation. Development of course is not to be despised regardless of origin, but these schemes of selfish land exploitation ought to be either prohibited or obliged to come up to a certain high standard as they usually "develop" in the wrong direction. The aim of the backers of such schemes is primarily to reap as large a profit as they can and, therefore, they usually lay out the streets as narrow as possible, divide the territory into as many lots as they count on selling, and then make the price as apparently low as they can. In many cases, the promoters of land schemes build the houses before selling the property and in this case the effect is not any better. The direct result of this type of land speculation is the creation of an undesirable and undesirable suburb; the indirect effect is the deterioration of adjacent property. It is a most important matter for all cities to see that land development in the suburbs is of a nature in keeping with the neighborhood and of a character that will improve with time instead of being an eyesore in a few years. Private property should not be permitted to block civic progress, and the municipal authorities of all our cities should keep the strictest supervision over all external agencies that seek to reap abnormal profit from undesirable land development. We of Lowell have made our mistakes in this respect but they are mistakes that should not be repeated. Strict vigilance will be rewarded by a more uniform and consistent type of building in keeping with the character and importance of the city.

AMBASSADOR WILSON

It may be possible that the conference to take place between the president, secretary of state and Henry Lane Wilson, the American envoy who has been sent for the president to confer with the administration on Mexican affairs, may justify the attitude of the ambassador, and it may be that time will show that his frank attitude is correct, but as the official representative of this country, he seems to have an erroneous opinion of the duties of his position. His action in upholding the Huerta provisional government and making no secret of his plans to support that government indicates that he let his feelings as an individual run away with the loyalty he owes first of all to this country. He seems, if the published interviews with him are authentic, to desire to be a dictator of our Mexican policies rather than the intermediary between this country and Mexico. To say the least, he has acted with imprudence, imprudence and disregard for diplomatic tact in making such open and defiant declaration of his views before his interview with the president.

It will be remembered that the charges made by Mrs. Madero against Ambassador Wilson were not the only charges made against him during the stirring times following the official murder of Madero. It was no secret that he was in open sympathy with the usurper and it was asserted by some of the American fugitives that he neglected the interests of the Americans in Mexico, especially if they were not in sympathy with the policies that are at present in control. Of course it is to be expected that some American capitalists are selfishly in sympathy with one side or the other but somehow we do not expect this from our ambassador. The views of the administration should be the official views of the American envoy, and if his private views were different he ought to refrain from airing them in word or action, or resign if he could not follow this policy conscientiously. It would not surprise a great many people if Henry Lane Wilson were not returned to Mexico as the government representative.

SING SING

While the governor of Massachusetts is being criticized in some quarters for his tendency to pardon criminals serving long sentences in state prison, and his desire to make prison conditions in general better, news comes of the most slackening outbreak of insubordination and violence in Sing Sing. It is difficult to realize that we read of New York's state prison when the papers tell us that one of the convicts set fire to the prison main shop last week, with a loss of $15,000, and that another tried to set a fire which, if successful, would have been far more disastrous. Order was restored only after 60 of the ring-leaders, convicts with the worst records, were transferred, shouting and vainly protesting and chained hand and foot, to the prison at Auburn. The noise made by yelling and cursing sympathizers of the strikers is said to have produced a veritable pandemonium.

The "strike" among the desperate prisoners is said to be primarily due to the removal of a favorite warden and the resultant curtailment of privileges to the convicts. But probably there was some deep-seated discontent which the removal of the official fanned into a flame. Disgruntled inmates of the cell blocks at Sing Sing recently by a wordy jury of New York revealed that Sing Sing prison is primitive and uncivilized in the extreme. The cells, they say, are unlighted, and the food is so bad that it is a disgrace. The punishment is said to be inhuman and the guards are said to be brutal. The direct result of this type of land speculation is the creation of an undesirable and undesirable suburb; the indirect effect is the deterioration of adjacent property. It is a most important matter for all cities to see that land development in the suburbs is of a nature in keeping with the neighborhood and of a character that will improve with time instead of being an eyesore in a few years. Private property should not be permitted to block civic progress, and the municipal authorities of all our cities should keep the strictest supervision over all external agencies that seek to reap abnormal profit from undesirable land development. We of Lowell have made our mistakes in this respect but they are mistakes that should not be repeated. Strict vigilance will be rewarded by a more uniform and consistent type of building in keeping with the character and importance of the city.

Seen and Heard

The prettiest girl in town may not be so attractive to you as the homely girl who smiles at you affectionately every time she meets you.

In the old days when the sailor came ashore he always hired a butler. Now he has to have an automobile. In a few years it will be a liability.

It is always a question in the summer time whether it is better to buy a new refrigerator or to pay the plumber five dollars to fix the old one so that it will go another month.

If a girl can take an ear of corn and eat it gracefully she has no need of studying department at a dancing school.

Just because a man eats peas with his knife, you can't be absolutely certain that he comes from Chicago.

Don't sneer at the rich old party who invites you to go off with him on an automobile trip, even though he writes to you that he has a good shofar.

Yes, Millicent, no doubt other people prize the picture postcards that you send to them, just as you do those that they send to you.

The girl who can tell exactly what the young man to whom she is engaged is thinking is a real treasure.

When you see your babydaddy having a good time in the morning, there is a good chance that you are going to have roast spring chicken that day for dinner.

You can't believe all you hear, and you mustn't expect that other people will want to hear all you believe, or that they will believe all they hear you say.

The young man who can't get anybody else to love him can always buy a dog.

When a little man tries to look impressive, everybody wants to laugh.

Why not tell other people your troubles? You might as well be doing that as to have to listen while they are telling theirs.

The maiden in the bathing suit now lounges on the beach. And seems to get wet in the waves that splash in easy reach.

Why should she? She is shapely. And the sand is soft and warm. And bathing with the maiden is a matter of good form.

She doesn't mind the people that stop to view her charms. Or try to let old Ocean engulf her in his arms.

She doesn't mind the eagerness as other maidens might. For at home she has a mirror. And she knows she is all right.

The true patriot always pays his taxes promptly. He is not complaining, but there are very few true patriots anywhere in this broad land.

The young man who quotes poetry when he is talking to his girl may think that he is making an impression, when she is only trying not to laugh.

It doesn't matter so much if the stenographer can't read her notes, so long as the business man who dictated the letter has a good memory and can remember what he said.

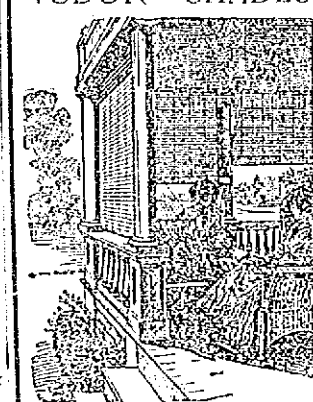

Sometimes when each of two neighbors thinks the other is extravagant, both are right.

When the mercury is up to 97 and the humidity is over a hundred, it doesn't make you feel worse to think how happy you were last February.

Cardinal Gibbons. Boston Transcript: So strong a hold has Cardinal Gibbons upon the confidence and affection of the American people, irrespective of creed, that they dislike to think of him as growing old; still upon this, his 75th birthday, they can offer their sincere congratulations that the years have not dimmed his spirit or impaired those faculties which constitute the real man.

No Worry. Lawrence Telegram: There is no need to worry about what the members of congress do or do not do to the tariff among the millions of farmers in the west and south so long as the crop prospects continue as good as they are just now. No more do we hear any wild and woolly proposals from Kansas about flat money and government pensions for everyone as in the days when the crops in the west consisted most of sand flies and grasshoppers.

Neutrality. Newport News: President Wilson's decision for absolute neutrality between the factions in Mexico, so that none shall obtain arms or ammunition from this country, means that Huerta will be deprived of the privileges previously accorded to Madero and that the United States is not disposed to recognize the present government in Mexico as rightly constituted.

The Public Pays. Salem News: Increased rates on the B. & M. are in prospect. Wages cannot be increased, and other expenses swollen, without calling on the dear public for aid, in the shape of higher fares and larger freight charges.

His Audience. Fall River Globe: Secretary Bryan and the Chautauque management appear to be profiting by the wide advertising his engagements which the latter have been receiving, judging from the reports of the size of the audiences that are attending his lectures. It looks as though the secretary of state might pick up enough on the side in this way to keep the wolf from the door this year.

ALICE L. DUHAIME. Congressman Reed's Secretary the Youngest With One Exception in New England Delegation.

To be secretary to a congressman at the age of 21 is such an unusual thing in the eyes of most residents of Washington that when a young man at that tender age is appointed to such a responsible position he is made to feel that he has gone ahead rapidly.

Only too often has made a lion of his own little set, to his detriment, and what was the making of a fine level-headed man turns out to be anything but what it was intended he should be.

Congressman Eugene E. Reed of the 1st New Hampshire district knew this, but he had so much confidence in Alice L. Duhaime that despite the latter's youth the congressman named Mr. Duhaime his secretary, just after he reached his majority. No one who knows Mr. Duhaime and has watched him in Washington has any fears for his future, as the appointment with which he has been honored does not in any way affect him.

Mr. Duhaime was born in Manchester, N. H., 21 years ago in 1892, which makes him the youngest member of the New England delegation of secretaries with the exception of Charles F. Gilmore. He was educated in St. George's Parochial school and graduated in French and English in 1908, receiving a scholarship for general excellence. For the next year Mr. Duhaime studied shorthand in a business college. He then entered the law office of Perkins & Delanger of Manchester, N. H., and remained there until he was appointed secretary to Mr. Reed.

Private Secretary Duhaime is well known in Lowell as is Congressman Reed. The latter is a close personal friend of Hon. James B. Casey and was a guest here in March.

THEIR FIRST ANNUAL. Sons and Daughters of St. George Spend Pleasant Afternoon at Cannon Lake.

The first annual joint outing of the Lowell lodges of the Sons and Daughters of St. George was held at Cannon lake Saturday afternoon and the affair was a great success. One special car containing about 100 members and friends of the organization left Merrimack square about 1.15 and other picnickers followed on regular cars.

The first event on the afternoon program was the baseball game between teams representing the Lowell and Lawrence lodges. The former boys easily defeated the aggregation from the down-river city by the score of 21 to 1. The other events and winners were:

100 yard dash, open, G. Nickelson, first; J. Nickelson, second. 50 yard dash, married women, Mrs. Elliott, first; Mrs. J. H. Broadbent, second. 50 yard dash, boys under 12 years, Geo. Dawson, first; F. Layton, second. 50 yard dash, single women, won by Frances Copperthwaite. 100 yard dash, boys under 14, Charles Taylor, first; E. Walker, second. Three legged race, open, G. and H. Nickelson. 50 yard dash for girls, won by Harriet Elliott. Boys' shoe race, T. Joyce, first; A. Anderson, second. Potato race, J. Henson, first; Charles Taylor, second. 100 yard dash for members, Harry Johnson, first; A. Copperthwaite, second; Fat men's race, 150 pounds or over, won by Lewis Picking. 100 yard dash for members over 50 years, won by Theo. Smith.

After the sports the crowd visited the various amusements in the park. The committee having charge of the affair were: Waverly lodge, Joseph Wilbur, N. W. Matthews, Jr., and H. J. Johnson, and from Friendship and Merrimack lodges were: Sidney Copperthwaite, Robert Corhill, Theo. Smith, John Raw, James Longworth and Joshua Jackson.

Mill Employees Outing. Mountain Rock park was the scene of the third annual outing of the employees of the Appleton and Tremont and Suffolk mills, which was held on Saturday afternoon. The weather was excellent for running off the list of sports that had been arranged and the affair was a great success.

The baseball game between teams representing the two mills was a feature of the day. The friends of the Appleton team finally won by the score of 8 to 5. The feature of the game was the work of Pitcher Farrell of the winning team.

At the close of the ball game the following events were carried out: 100 yards dash, won by J. Michael; Wm. McDermott, second, and J. Shields

IRISH LEADER IN AMERICA DEAD

John O'Callaghan Succumbs After Illness of Only Two Days

BOSTON, July 28.—John O'Callaghan, secretary of the United Irish League of America and staff writer on the Boston Globe, died at the Carney hospital, South Boston, after an illness of less than two days, at 9:15 Sunday morning.

He was taken from his home in Brighton Friday evening to the hospital suffering from an intestinal trouble that had come on him very suddenly during the evening.

Mr. O'Callaghan had worked during the day Friday as usual, but complained of not feeling well in the evening. Dr. Henry V. McLaughlin was summoned and he ordered Mr. O'Callaghan's removal to the hospital at once.

Saturday night he seemed to be slightly improved, but early yesterday morning he began to sink, and his friends and relatives were hastily summoned. He was conscious until 10 minutes before he died.

At the time of his death, he was his brother, Patrick O'Callaghan, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie O'Callaghan; Michael J. Jordan, president of the Boston branch of the United Irish League; Dennis O'Reilly, Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Lyons, chaplain of the Carney hospital; Dr. Mahoney of the hospital staff and the sister superior of the hospital.

The funeral will take place Wednesday at 10 o'clock in the forenoon in St. Columbkille's church, Brighton. There will be a solemn requiem mass.

John O'Callaghan was born in the town of Killavullen, County Cork, Ireland, Oct. 18, 1868, and was educated in the national school of that town. When a mere boy he went to the city of Cork and went to work on the Cork Herald as a reporter.

He mastered shorthand and after a brief period on the Herald he went to work on the Cork Examiner. The Parnell movement was well under way at this time and young O'Callaghan took an active interest in the movement. In fact, Cork was seething with the home rule question at that time.

He was also correspondent for the Dublin Freeman's Journal, and in his letters to that paper he did not hesitate to express his opinions of the political situation pretty freely.

After the Phoenix Park murders and the subsequent execution act in Ireland, men like John O'Callaghan were under surveillance by the government, and he was not allowed much latitude in his work, so he came to America in 1897 and joined the Boston Globe staff that year, acting as private secretary for the managing editor for a year or more before he took up staff work.

His first important newspaper work in America was in the gubernatorial campaign of William E. Russell. He went with the youthful governor through all three of his campaigns and aroused the admiration of Governor Russell by the thorough manner in which the work was done.

He also worked in George Fred Williams' campaigns, but besides these things he did a great amount of "all-round" newspaper work, especially large cases in the courts. He reported the Trefethen case in both trials, and the Bram trial.

All this time he kept in close touch with Irish affairs. When the old American Land League, that had been organized in New York in 1840 with John Boyle O'Reilly as president, had been merged into the United Irish League of America in 1903, at a great meeting in Faneuil hall, John O'Callaghan was elected secretary, and he held that office up to the time of his death.

Mayor O'Donnell's Tribute
Upon learning of the death of John O'Callaghan, this morning, Mayor O'Donnell said:
"As a personal friend of Mr. O'Callaghan, the news of his death came to me in the nature of a shock. On many occasions have I sat upon the same platform with him and listened spellbound to his earnest and eloquent words in behalf of his beloved motherland; while it has been my pleasure to meet him in a social way when I have been charmed by his purity of thought, his eloquence of speech and the fluency of his wit. By his death the Irish cause has sustained a deep loss. Through his devotion to that cause he was known and beloved by Irishmen the world over, and as he fares forth to the Great Beyond the prayerful well wishes of the great Irish race accompany him."

MATRIMONIAL

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the marriage of Mr. Joseph Denault and Miss Flore Forget was solemnized at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I. The witnesses were Onesime Forget and Marcel Denault. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 22 Pawtucket street, where a reception was held. The happy couple who were the recipients of numerous gifts left at 11:05 o'clock this forenoon on a wedding tour to Providence, Woonsocket and Pawtucket, R. I. They will return to this city Saturday, when they will be given a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 22 Farmland road. The couple will make their home in Franklin, Mass.

PATERSON STRIKE OVER

Strikers Lost $5,300,000 in Wages

PATERSON, N. J., July 28.—The silk strike is over but not all the strikers who left the mills 21 weeks ago were able to find work today. The manufacturers said they had all the hands they could use until they received orders withheld pending the settlement of the labor troubles. The central strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World has been delegated to make official declaration of the end of the strike tomorrow.

It is estimated that the strike cost the employees $5,300,000 in lost wages. The manufacturers lost their spring and summer orders and 21 small plants went to the wall.

Will be Feature of the Annual Encampment of O. M. I. Cadets at Milligan's Grove

The final meeting of the O. M. I. Cadets preparatory to their departure to camp, tomorrow, will be held in the immaculate Conception school hall this evening. All plans for the week's encampment will be announced and instructions to the little soldiers will be given by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., Military Instructor Bernard McArdle, Physical Director Matt McCann and Major Haggerty.

Fr. Sullivan will also read a personal letter from Archbishop Anderson, in which the writer congratulates the cadets and authorizes their chaplain, Fr. Sullivan, to celebrate a military mass in the open air on next Friday. The local priest is slated over the authority to have the mass on the camp grounds and inasmuch as it will be the first Friday of the month, the young soldiers will receive holy communion in a body. The mass will be celebrated at 6:30 o'clock and all cadets will assist at the services. Bishop Anderson also extended his blessing to all members of the organization.

This will be the first time that a mass has been celebrated on the grounds and the clergymen as well as the cadets are grateful to the archbishop for granting the special privilege.

Tomorrow morning the baggage of the cadets will be shipped on a special electric car to the scene of the encampment at Milligan's grove, Wilmington. A number of the soldiers will go down in the morning and will pitch their tents. There will be in readiness by the noon hour. At 12:30 o'clock the remaining members of the organization will assemble at the school hall, and will then march to the corner of Fayette and East Merrimack streets, where special electric lights will be boarded which later will proceed to the camp grounds.

Upon arriving at the "bathfields," the companies will be assigned to their respective quarters and will remain there until next Saturday evening when camp will be broken and the return to the city made.

During the week a very interesting as well as instructive program will be carried out, and a large number is expected to visit the grounds and watch the boys go through their many maneuvers. The complete program will be decided upon at tonight's meeting and will be announced later.

St. Peter's Church

Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan celebrated the 11 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday and preached a short yet instructive sermon on the gospel of the day, admonishing the congregation to lead good and holy lives so as to merit the divine illumination in the gospel. "He doeth all things well."

Next Friday, the first Friday of the month, the usual devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart will be held with masses in the morning at 5 and 7 o'clock. Confessions will be heard on Thursday afternoon and evening in preparation for the devotions.

The Knights of Columbus of Worcester have purchased the splendid W. C. A. building in that city and will take possession in the fall. Mr. Bernard D. Ward, the efficient secretary of St. Peter's Holy Name society, has been elected alternate to the national convention of the Federation of Catholic Societies to be held in Milwaukee in August. Mr. Ward goes as a delegate from the Middlesex county branch, in whose affairs he has become quite prominent.

While it is yet early, it is stated on reliable authority that the Catholic societies of Manchester, N. H., are contemplating holding a monster parade on Columbus day, on account of its being a legal holiday in that state. In that event it appears to be the impression in Lowell that organizations here will be invited to participate. The magnificent showing made by the Manchester men here on March 26th can hardly be forgotten, say prominent workers in the Lowell societies, and hence if an invitation is sent to Lowell, the representation from here will be to doubt be a creditable one.

St. Columba's Church

The committee in charge of the grand lawn party which is to be held under the auspices of St. Columba's church on the beautiful grounds surrounding the temple on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings, have completed all arrangements for the event and they hope the success of the affair will be the best ever obtained in that parish, although all that ever was undertaken by the parishioners of St. Columba's always has been a brilliant success.

The party is given for the benefit of the parish and all members are putting their shoulders to the wheel and doing their utmost to make the event a notable one. The afternoons will be devoted to children, when all kinds of sporting and field events will be carried out, suitable prizes to be awarded the winners, while in the evening the adults will be welcomed. The Lowell Cadet band will be in attendance and will give delightful concerts.

The grounds are being decorated for the occasion and numerous booths and tables are being installed on the premises, which will soon give the place the appearance of a regular midway. In the afternoon a hurdy-gurdy will be on hand to supply music for the children, and it is expected the little ones will have the time of their lives.

If the weather is not favorable the event will be postponed until the first bright day.

Lawn Party at Night
Arrangements are practically completed for the lawn party to be held on the novitate grounds in Tewksbury next Saturday.

Many unique features are promised, the most prominent of which is the naval ball game starting at 3:30 p. m. between the crews of the battleships Nebraska and Virginia. This event is expected to draw well because it is the first time the people of this section have had an opportunity of witnessing the "jackies" display their athletic prowess. Besides the ball game the sailors will participate in the field events. During the afternoon the famous marine band of the Nebraska, acknowledged to be the best band in the service, will render a delightful musical program.

Besides this, many other events are scheduled. Two ball games in the morning, a long program of sports arranged to suit the children, the ladies and ambitious athletes for which valuable prizes will be awarded.

In the evening the beautiful grounds will be brilliantly illuminated, both by electricity and by about two thousand Japanese lanterns. An open air entertainment in charge of Miss Walsh of Somerville will help to make a pleasant evening. Besides the new pavilion has been especially built for the occasion and lovers of dancing may enjoy themselves to their heart's delight. No effort or expense has been spared to make the affair a memorable one in Tewksbury, and its success is assured.

Arrangements have been made for special cars from Boston, Haverhill and Lawrence, and a fifteen minute schedule has been arranged between Lowell and Wilmington.

They made the crossing by the light of trainmen's lanterns. The gulch is 50 feet deep and 125 feet wide.

DROWNED AT CANOBIE LAKE

Everett Girl Lost Her Life When Canoe Capsized

Her Companion, Harold Dennis of Chelsea, Was Saved

CANOBIE LAKE, N. H., July 28.—Miss Isabel Kanert, 12, of Marie avenue, Everett, was drowned in the lake here yesterday, when the canoe in which she was paddling with Harold Dennis, 22, of Chelsea, was upset by a big wave. Walter Blyth, a Lawrence business man, rescued Dennis and Miss Kanert sank as he was about to haul her into a boat.

The water on the lake was rather choppy yesterday, but many canoeists were out in the afternoon. Miss Kanert and Dennis were spending their vacation at a local hotel and had started to cross the lake. When half way across, a big wave crashed against the canoe and upset it. Miss Kanert and Dennis clung about in the rough water, and finally both secured hold of the overturned craft.

Walter Blyth, who is camping on the lake with his family, saw the capsizing of the canoe. He dashed down to the lake shore and pushed out in a rowboat, shouting to the struggling couple to keep up their courage.

When Blyth neared the canoe, Miss Kanert and Dennis had released their hold on the boat. He reached Dennis first and pulled him into the boat, and was within a few feet of Miss Kanert when she sank and did not appear again.

Several other boats had put out to assist the young man and his companion, but they arrived just too late to save Miss Kanert. Several men dove and then grappled for the body, but up to a late hour last night it was not recovered.

Dennis was in an unconscious condition when brought ashore, and for a time it was thought he would die. He remained unconscious for more than two hours and was raving about his young woman companion.

Rev. Leon Lamothe, O. M. I., pastor of Notre Dame de Lourdes church, left yesterday on a two-weeks' trip to Montreal and other points of interest in the Dominion.

THIRD ANNUAL PICNIC AND FIELD DAY OF SACRED HEART PARISH WAS A BIG SUCCESS

Winners of Girls' Ball Game at the Sacred Heart Parish Picnic Saturday

The clergyman of the Sacred Heart parish, as well as the entire committee who had charge of the third annual picnic and field day conducted under the auspices of the parish Saturday at the Groton club, Knights of Columbus grounds in Tyngsboro, are elated with the result of the event, and all were highly complimented over the success obtained, for as it was announced in Saturday's issue of The Sun, nearly 300 people took part in the outing and all were very much pleased with the way the entire program was carried out.

The morning was devoted to children's sports. First came the senior boys' baseball game between the Glenmores and the Groves. The Glenmores won by a score of 5 to 3, and received a $5 prize. Merrill and McGinnis were the battery for the Glenmores, and Moriarty and Donahue for the Groves. In the 100-yard dash, Tully was first and Moriarty second. The girls' three-legged race was won by Misses Carpenter and Bakke, with Misses M. Lynch and J. Sheehan, winners of second place. The 50-yard dash was won by Miss A. Conway, with Miss M. Seymour second. The children's races ended with two events for the junior girls. In the three-legged race, the first pair were M. Doyle and M. Bassett. The second place was won by Mary and Alice O'Donnell. In the ball throwing, L. Burgoyne was first and A. E. Farnham second.

One of the features of the program was the girls' baseball game which, after an exciting "battle" was won by the Groves, by the close score of 3 to 2. Some of the plays that the young ladies pulled off would make many of the boys sit up and take notice, while others were well the same as all games. The work of arbitrating the decisions fell to James Craig, and no one was jealous of him. He was in hot water during the entire five innings, and some of his rulings brought a storm of protests, but with the assistance of some of the strong arm custodians of the grounds, Jim managed to get through the game without being killed through some of the players wanted to "kill" him. The players were exactly one of the features of the day, and the Groves are now being congratulated on all sides for their great playing. The lineup and score by innings:

Rose Pitonof at Canobie Lake
Rose Pitonof, the little Dorchester girl, who holds all of the world championships for girl swimmers, is practicing for her next attempt to swim from New York to Sandy Hook, the most difficult feat she has yet tried and she says that she is sure she's going to make it.

She arrived at Canobie lake today, to spend her two weeks' vacation which she says, isn't a vacation at all, but just a lay-off for during the time she's at the park she plans to fairly live in the swimming pool.

Miss Pitonof is up well known to regulars, introduced and some of her swimming feats have been fairly remarkable for even strong limbed men, while, for a girl they are little short of miraculous.

Freedom of the line, large swimming pool at Canobie lake park and she plans to have two weeks of girlish fun in the water with the boys and girls who can swim the black. She refuses to swim with them all the time so that she can keep in the pink of condition and promises to teach anyone who doesn't already know how, how they can save themselves if they are in danger of drowning. Rose says that every boy and girl ought to know how to swim and if they want to learn they had best come and see her during her two weeks' stay there.

LONDON, July 28.—A report from Australia that King George and Queen Mary are to lay the foundation of the Australian commonwealth parliament house at Canberra next year is discredited today by the Pall Mall Gazette which says that Canada is to be the next British colony visited by their majesties and adds:

"They take it for granted that while so near the United States they will cross the border and it is thought probable they may pay a brief visit to Washington and perhaps to New York."

FOR SUPPORT OF REBELS

EVENING SCHOOL TEACHERS ALARMED

Fear Future Examinations Will be Very Difficult and That New Teachers May Drop in

Teachers of evening schools, those who have been employed in that capacity for years, have, it is stated, expressed some fear of being replaced by new teachers on the waiting list. The cause of this fear is said to be contained in the belief held by some of the teachers to the effect that future examinations to determine eligibility for service in the evening schools will be more thorough than in former years; that they will embrace more subjects. According to the new rules of the school committee the examinations will be held under the supervision of an examining committee consisting of the superintendent of schools, the headmaster of the high school and the senior grammar master. Eligibility to fill any position in the evening elementary or evening high school shall be determined by examination adapted to the requirements of the various positions to be filled; but all candidates must be bona fide residents of Lowell.

Here is the whole story as told in section five of chapter five of the rules of the school committee.

Elementary Evening Schools

Between Aug. 29 and Aug. 30 of each year the superintendent shall issue a public advertisement announcing that on a stated date not earlier than Sept. 20 nor later than Sept. 30 next ensuing a public examination for the Lowell elementary evening schools of the fifth and seventh grades will be held in Lowell and that from those examined not more than a stated number—said number having been previously designated by the committee—will be appointed evening school teachers for the ensuing year or some part thereof. All applicants must signify their intention of taking the examination by notifying the superintendent in writing at least two weeks before the date of such examination, at which time the list will be closed and no new names added. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to require the advertisement or holding of such an examination if in the opinion of the committee no additional teachers will be required for the ensuing evening school year. Such examination shall be conducted by the superintendent of schools. The names of applicants shall be identified by number only, and after correction the envelopes containing the names of the applicants shall be opened by the superintendent or some other person whom the committee shall designate in the presence and at a public meeting of the committee. At a subsequent meeting the committee shall elect in order of rank as many teachers as it may deem necessary.

In the examination of candidates for fifth grade certificates as assistants in the elementary evening schools, to be held in September, 1913, all holders of fifth grade certificates already issued and who have already served as regular teachers in the evening elementary schools shall be eligible, and if there should not be a sufficient large number of candidates so qualified to meet the requirements of the evening schools any additional candidates for qualification in this examination shall be graduates of a normal school.

After the year 1913 all candidates for certificates of qualification as assistants in the evening elementary schools shall be graduates of a normal school.

Interpreters shall be elected by the school committee on the recommendation of the superintendent of schools.

Principals of elementary evening schools. For the evening school season for the year 1913 and 1914, all holders of fifth grade certificates who have had previous experience as evening school principals shall be eligible to take the examination for qualification as principals in Lowell of evening elementary schools. In each subsequent evening school year only holders of first grade certificates will be eligible for qualification as evening elementary school principals.

School Committee Campbell said today that he had heard from some of the evening school teachers and the impression seemed to obtain, he said, that the examinations would be much more difficult this year. "I do not see that there is any ground for such belief," said Mr. Campbell. "They will not be put through any course of sprouts that is not necessary."

INDICT ALLEGED INCENDIARIES Grand Jury Returns Indictments Against Men For Defrauding Insurance Companies

CHICAGO, July 25.—When the grand jury met today it returned a number of indictments against alleged incendiaries who had been defrauding insurance companies.

Joseph Fish, head of the firm of Joseph Fish & Co., fire insurance adjusters, was named in true bills which charged arson, burning to defraud, conspiracy to obstruct public justice and accessory after the fact.

Immediately following the return of true bills in court capias for the arrest of the persons indicted were issued.

David Korshak, fugitive firebug, who is reported to be in Canton, Ohio, conducting a saloon and Israel Schafner and Benjamin Fink, alias Franklin, were among the other defendants. Schafner is being sought by the police but Fink is in custody and will testify as a state's witness.

Others indicted were business men whose places, it is alleged, were destroyed by incendiary fires.

The true bills were voted after the grand jury had heard the testimony of Mrs. Fannie Korshak, wife of the fugitive firebug. In a detailed confession before the grand jury, Mrs. Korshak revealed what the state terms the inner workings of the alleged arson ring and confessed herself a member of the organization. She was not indicted and will not be prosecuted because of the revelations she made.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Johnson, monthly contributions amounting to $200 are being sent to Korshak to prevent him from returning to Chicago. Every member of the alleged "arson trust," the prosecutor asserted, contributes to the fund.

WOULD REDUCE FIRE INSURANCE RATES

Ald. Barrett Says Companies Should Recognize Improvements in Fire and Water Departments

Commissioner Barrett believes that the time has arrived when the citizens of Lowell ought to derive some direct benefit from changed conditions in both the fire and water departments and intimates strongly that he is of the opinion that insurance rates ought to be readjusted, and some recognition made by insurance companies of the improvements which the city council of Lowell has made possible in both the fire and water departments.

Without claiming to have made an exhaustive study of rates and insurance conditions generally, still, in view of the many changes, which have been made, he believes that even a cursory study of the facts must convince any impartial surveyor that the risk of loss by fire has been substantially decreased and that proper appreciation of the efforts of our city government for safer conditions ought to be shown by the different companies in the way of reduced rates.

In the following statement Mr. Barrett points out some important facts which seem to him to justify a request for lower insurance rates. He spoke as follows:

"With the modern and properly maintained fire and water departments of our city government, the risk of loss by fire has been substantially decreased and that proper appreciation of the efforts of our city government for safer conditions ought to be shown by the different companies in the way of reduced rates."

PETER DONAHUE IN A TOUGH MIXUP

Two Woburn Men Fined $40 Each for Assaulting Him—Lakeview Officer Was Game

John Bradley and Chas. L. Noyes, two Woburn young men, received one of the heaviest fines that has been inflicted in police court this year when their case for assault and battery upon Officer Peter Donahue at Lakeview Park last night was heard before Judge Enright this morning.

Both defendants pleaded guilty to drunkenness as well as assault and battery upon the police officer. Superintendent Welch called Officer Donahue to the witness stand and the officer described to the court the stirring scenes of last night's conflict between himself and his two assailants. Told in Peter's own aggressive manner it is hard to conceive where the two defendants ever got the idea into their heads that they could jump upon him and get away with it.

The officer first arrested Bradley who was so drunk that he could barely manage to hold his feet under him. Noyes, however, who was one of a

SHOTS FIRED AT MEN NEAR POWDER HOUSE

Sentry at Superior Copper District Opened Fire on Men—State Troops Ready

CALUMET, Mich., July 28.—The first shots of the strike in the Superior copper district were fired early today at the Isle Royale mine. A sentry guarding a powder house detected several men approaching the place and fired when they failed to heed his command to halt. The intruders fled and a company of guardsmen scoured the district for half a mile in all directions but without making any arrests.

Operators made an effort today to resume work in the mines. Out on the south range the first task of the operators was to replace on the cables the heavy scoops which had been dropped down the shafts last Friday at the command of strikers.

The mine pumps were working at Champion, Ballistik and Tri-Mountain in that section and at several locations in the north of the county. Another mine where water began to come into the shafts was the Hancock. In most of the locations groups of non-union men, closely watched by union members, gathered to discuss the advisability of returning to work.

The state troops were ordered ready for instant service at all the militia camps but their aid was not needed.

UNITED STATES WINS DWIGHT DAVIS CUP

Recaptured International Lawn Tennis Trophy From England by McLaughlin's Great Work

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 28.—The United States team today recaptured the Dwight D. Davis international lawn tennis trophy from England by adding a victory by Maurice E. McLaughlin of San Francisco over Charles P. Dixon to the singles match and doubles match already won, thus gaining the three matches out of the series of five necessary to carry off the cup.

The United States last the cup to England in 1904. Australia took it away from England in 1907 and held it until 1912, when it was won again by England.

The preliminary contest this year had been participated in by seven nations: The United States, Canada, Australasia, South Africa, Germany, France and Belgium. The United States team fought its way through to the final round where it met and defeated Canada and thus gained the right to challenge the English holders, whom it met and outplayed.

The scoring in the match which clinched the cup victory for the United States, follows:

World's Tennis Championship
The Davis cup, emblematic of the world's team championship in lawn tennis which returns to this country after an absence of 10 years, was first put in play in 1900. The trophy—a massive silver bowl—was the gift of Dwight D. Davis, who donated it with the idea of stimulating international competition in the court game. The success of the plan was assured from the beginning. During the 13 years which have elapsed since the gift the cup has been in play 12 seasons. The United States and England and Australasia have all in turn won and lost the prize, which has proved to be the most widely and frequently played-for international trophy on record.

During 1900 and 1902 the United States team successfully defended the cup against the attack of the British Isles players. In 1903, the Doherty brothers carrying it away to England. During the next four years the United States and Australasian players led the series for the cup and finally in 1907 the famous Antipodean players, Brookrose and Wilding, took the cup to Australasia. There it stayed until last winter when the English team, consisting of Parke, Dixon and Beaumont, won it for the British Isles.

BIG BATTLE SATURDAY General Pearson Orders 180,000 Rounds of Rifle

WAREHAM, July 28.—All the military organizations in camp here spent the forenoon in routine work and company drills, each having its individual program. While the second regiment from the western part of the state enjoyed the best climatic conditions the position at Fair Haven proved so restrictive that the commanding officer sought other camp grounds. The first regiment at West Barnstable held close order drill and the ninth regiment at Sandwich was put through extended evolutions. In preparation for the battle on Saturday Adj. General Pearson has assembled here 185,000 rounds of rifle and 50,000 rounds of revolver ammunition.

equipped apparatus which has been put into service and the additional pieces which are in contemplation for our city, there is no question but that the fire protection has been very much improved and the liability of loss by fire greatly decreased. Any well informed citizen must admit this fact and recognize that our property is much better protected than it would have been in the case under previous conditions. In addition our new telephone system will enable us to receive telephone alarms and to have our fire fighting force on their way to the fire in much quicker time than was possible before. Inquiry at the telephone office will show what an improvement has been made there. When the new arrangement by which our city is laid out into districts and in which the boxes changed to conform with those districts the danger of mistake of the location of a fire will have been reduced to the smallest possible liability, and every improvement has been made which experience has taught our sister cities is necessary to properly protect a city against fire loss.

"Again, the policy of gradually changing our call force into a permanent part of our department, judging by results obtained in other municipalities, must result in better service, and also, provides that men who have given their best efforts to the department as volunteers will be given the first chance to come into the department as regular firemen. So that, taken all together, conditions show to me conclusively that our fire department never was in better condition to give that service which the citizens have a right to expect from a department which they have so generously supported."

"Now, then, as to the water supply, in case of fire. The opening of our new reservoir, in November, 1912, gave us an initial increase of pressure of from 10 to 12 pounds and the policy of laying new and enlarged mains in all parts of the city has resulted in very largely increasing the efficiency of the fire department. Let me point out some of the principal changes which have been made already, and others which will be completed by the end of the year.

"A new 12-inch main is laid in Pawtucket street from Merrimack to Arlington street and a 10-inch main from Arlington street to School street, thereby increasing the supply in Pawtucket street and reinforcing every street which connects with said street because, on that job and every other one, the policy of the water department is to connect all streets and thereby benefit the entire section. A 12-inch main on Hale street was extended through and into Chelmsford street. In Church street a 15-inch main, which formerly ended at Lawrence street, was extended to Central street, thereby greatly increasing our supply in that locality, and this year a 16-inch main will be extended through Appleton street to Chelmsford street, then over the Boston & Maine tracks to Westford street, and along Westford street to Howard street, and so carrying sufficient supply both for domestic uses and for fire protection, into the Highlands from the easterly side.

Plans Further Extensions
"Plans for further extensions along Howard and Tanner streets to connect at Lincoln street with the large main from the Cook well plant have been drawn and, in the near future this section of the city will be fully supplied for all purposes. On Dutton street work was started at the gate of the Saco-Lowell shops in September, 1912, and the 16-inch main which stopped there, was extended along Dutton street to Fletcher street, then along Fletcher street to Rock street, along Rock street to School street, through School street to Broadway to Wilder street and as far as Princeton street. Every citizen who is interested in the welfare of the city must appreciate the importance of the work, consider the character and value of the property through which this line traverses and one must admit that the immense value of it as a protective measure, reinforcing, as it does, every street from the Saco-Lowell shops to Princeton street, in the heart of the Highlands and making every hydrant along that line four times as efficient in case of fire.

"Last, but by no means least, comes the 24-inch main which, before 1911, will be carried across the Merrimack river at Aiken street. At present, except while the Cook wells are in operation and with the exception of a small pipe on Central bridge, the entire city is dependent on a single line crossing the river at or near Hunt's falls, and in the summer of 1912, while some changes were being made at the reservoir, the inadequacy of present conditions was made apparent. When the new crossing is made, in case of accident to our reservoir or lower crossing, which has been in use now over forty years, it will be possible to pump directly into our city mains from the westmost spot in our water system, which will be eliminated. This 24-inch main which will cross at Aiken street will be connected at Hall and Cabot streets with two twenty-inch mains, one going along and through the Corporation to Bridge street, which the city has built for years ago for the protection of the mills. The other twenty-inch main was extended last year from Cabot street to Moody street, through Cabot street to Adams street, along Adams street to Cross street, and will this year be finished to Liberty square to connect with the main previously referred to which runs from the Saco-Lowell shops to Princeton street.

Some Smaller Improvements
"Together with these larger improvements many others have been made such as a 12-inch line on Gosham street, from South street to Davis square, connecting Middlesex street and Princeton boulevard, giving better supply and removing dead ends on those streets; removing from a number of streets 4-inch pipes and substituting larger mains so that hydrants might be installed, laying some ten-inch, eight and ten inch pipe to new streets, and otherwise doing everything that the growth of our city and its further development demand in the way of service and protection.

"This year 75 new hydrants are being installed, all of which tend to better protection in case of fire. One very important point in connection with this description of the work of the water department is the fact that all expenses of the department are provided by its revenues, as it receives no appropriation from the city."

Conference on Mexican Situation Held—President Does Not Believe Public Mind is Excited

WASHINGTON, July 28.—President Wilson does not believe that the public mind in the United States is excited over the situation in Mexico nor is he convinced that a crisis has been reached in the revolution itself. This information was obtained in official circles today with an authoritative denial that any proposal looking toward a cooperation between American military forces and the Mexican government for the restoration of peace had been suggested.

Two Wilsons to Meet
Those who approached the president today on the Mexican situation found him disinclined to discuss it, as later he was to confer with Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson. Secretary Bryan arranged to see the president before the conference. The secretary also continued his reticence on Mexican affairs.

It was learned at the White House, however, that reports crediting Ambassador Wilson with having advocated a set of proposals contemplating military cooperation at Mexico or intervention were unfounded. The president has received from Ambassador Wilson a historical account of events in Mexico in the last three years.

Ambassador Retient
The ambassador himself said today he had not mentioned any remedies on the situation to anyone and had not even put on paper the plans he had in mind. He reserved these, he said, for his personal interview with the president. Contradictory information has reached the Washington government regarding the stability of the Huerta administration. It was said today to be a question of reliability of informants. Officials were being credited. It was said, however, that in the last ten days there had been little or no change in the status of affairs in the southern republic.

Serious Incident
The shooting of Charles Dixon, Jr., at Juarez is regarded as a serious incident but its bearing on the general Mexican situation is being minimized by officials here today as the American demand for the investigation and punishment of the offenders apparently, were being complied with. At the White House it was said the United States would pursue a course of diligent inquiry into the affair and would insist on summary action to the guilty.

COMMANDER OF AMERICAN SQUADRON AT MEXICO REPORTS ALL IS QUIET

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Admiral Cowles, commanding the American squadron off the Pacific coast of Mexico reported to the navy department today that all is quiet at Guaymas but that he is without word as to conditions in Topolobampo.

COL. A. H. GOETTING

A Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Lieutenant-Governor Makes Formal Announcement

Col. A. H. Goetting of Springfield makes the following statement: "Upon the advice of republicans in all parts of the state, I have decided to be a candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant-governor. Ordinarily that office calls for the discharge of only such duties as fall to a member of the governor's council. To that body the eighth councillor district has elected me, five consecutive times, which seems to warrant the assumption that my service to the district has been satisfactory. It experience counts it should have brought qualifications for further similar service to the public.

"If as lieutenant-governor I should have occasion also to discharge the duties of chief executive, it would be my hope that familiarity with the affairs of the commonwealth, gained by an active participation in its public life, extending over more than 20 years, would prove to have fitted me for the performance of those duties. This hope is strengthened by the proofs of confidence that my neighbors in western Massachusetts from time to time have been kind enough to give. Their approbation is my credential to voters in other parts of the state, where my opportunity for personal acquaintance has not been so great.

Should it appear that western Massachusetts presents no other candidate for the first two places on the republican ticket, it would be my further hope that my candidacy might fairly be inferred to represent the desires of a region that contributes materially to the party strength in the state. Hitherto it has been my good fortune to receive in this region the support not only of ardent republicans, but also of many voters not so aligned.

If the approval of my candidacy by the republicans of the state, should bring support to the whole ticket from my friends in the western counties it would be indeed a source of gratification to me.

Williams a Candidate
Rev. Charles H. Williams of Billerica, who served last year as representative for the 13th Middlesex district in the Massachusetts house of representatives, announces that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination in that district for a second term.

MILITIAMAN SHOT IN THE BACK

Private Involved in Quarrel With Post Card Dealer Received
Bullet From Policeman

WAREHAM, July 28.—The militia war which began yesterday with the arrival of 6000 militiamen on the shoulder end of Cape Cod was given a touch of realism today when Private Harrington of the ninth regiment received a bullet in the back from the revolver of Policeman M. J. Murphy of Sandwich.

The shooting took place in the village of Sagamore, a few hours after midnight. According to the officers of the regiment, Harrington, with several others became involved in a quarrel with a postcard dealer, who called for help. Murphy responded and claims to have fired four shots in the air. One of the bullets was deflected and hitting Harrington, inflicted a deep flesh wound. The soldier was sent to Boston on the first morning train. Later Murphy was arraigned in the Barnstable court, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. He pleaded not guilty and was released on $200 bail, pending a further investigation.

AMERICAN IS FREED

U. S. Immigration Inspector Now at El Paso

EL PASO, Texas, July 28.—Charles B. Dixon, Jr., the United States immigration inspector who was shot in Juarez, Mexico, Saturday by Mexican soldiers, was released from the Juarez hospital and brought to El Paso yesterday, after American Consul E. D. Edwards had made a demand for his release and for the arrest of the men who shot him.

Mexican Consul Miranda and Guillermo Porras, formerly secretary of state of Chihuahua, also interceded for the release of Dixon, after conferences with United States officials, who represented to the Mexicans the grave impression that had been produced in Washington by the news of the shooting of the inspector.

The demand of Consul Edwards was in vigorous language. First telling the Mexican authorities that Dixon must be delivered to his friends and permitted to be brought to El Paso without delay, the consul said relative to a repatriation:

"I do not merely request the arrest of these men, but in the name of the United States government, which I have the honor to represent, I demand their immediate arrest and their trial and punishment for this crime. My government will hold the military authorities of Juarez personally responsible for failure to obey this command."

PANIC WAS AVERTED

Owner Announces Holiday as Building Burns

NEW YORK, July 28.—Seventy-five men and girls employed by Levine, Melkew & Co. making clothes on the ninth floor of a loft building were surprised yesterday noon when Morris Levine, head of the firm, suddenly announced that everybody could have a half-holiday.

They lost no time in getting downstairs, and as they reached the sidewalk they saw the fire engines dash up and smoke pouring from the windows of the floor just below where they been at work.

Levine had found that the building was a fire and had taken this means to get his employees out without a panic. The firemen put out the blaze after it had done about $10,000 damage. Had the clothing workers stayed in the building a few minutes longer their escape would have been cut off.

27 INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Five Passenger Coaches
Overtaken Near Eldorado, Colo.

Six of the Injured Persons Not Expected To Live

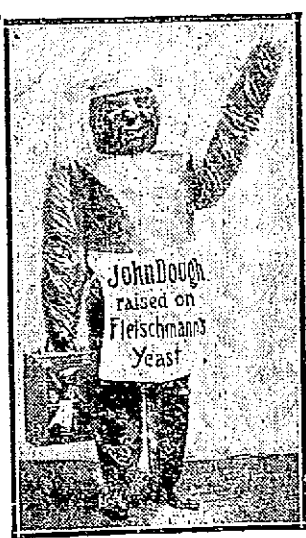

BOULDER, Colo., July 25.—Twenty-seven passengers were injured, six probably fatally, when five coaches of the Denver, Boulder & Western train overturned near Eldorado, Colo., yesterday. In the five coaches were 125 passengers, mostly tourists from the east.

The train left El Dorado about noon and was attempting to make the customary return when the rear coach left the track. The train crew endeavored to draw the coach back upon the track, when it overturned and carried with it the next four cars.

JOHN DOUGH IN TOWN

Man of the Yeast is Going West

If you see the staff of life perambulating about the streets just say "Hello Jack," and the man of bread, "John Dough" will answer you. John Dough's right name is Jack Kelly and he hails from York, Pa. He is advertising Fleischmann's yeast and just for that he makes a specialty of visiting grocery stores and bakeries. He left Tampa, Fla., Jan. 3, 1910, and he expects to reach San Francisco for the world's fair in 1915. He came here from Lawrence and he will visit every city of importance in the United States. He wears a paper mache costume representing the various loaves of bread, which weighs 12 lbs. Jack Kelly, alias John Dough, says that the fellow who eats lots of bread can laugh at the high cost of living. In his bread costume he is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. He has just the right crust and is more than half baked.

TROLLEY POLE LIGHTS

Lowell Man Says That
Scheme is Feasible

The Bay State Street Railway company refuses to allow the city to attach lights to its poles in Merrimack square on the ground that it would not be practicable to have street lights attached to trolley poles. There are many who hold to the belief that the plan is a satisfactory one and the municipal council is going to look into the matter. At a hearing before Alderman Cummings a week or so ago an electrical engineer for the Bay State Street railway stated that his company did not want to take the responsibility of lights on trolley poles. The scheme works well in Fitchburg. Based on his observation in Fitchburg a prominent business man of this city is satisfied that the plan is satisfactory and if it could not be carried out here he would like to be shown why not.

MURPHY AT IT AGAIN

Asks for Special Meeting of National Commission to Consider Charges Regarding Chicago Gamblers

CHICAGO, July 23.—President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals has asked for a special meeting of the national commission to consider charges that local gamblers receive inside information on the lineup of the Cubs. He wrote today to President Herrmann of the commission stating that an immediate investigation should be made. "I do not understand how anyone connected with the team could be in league with the gamblers because even I do not know who is going to pitch until the game is about to start," said Murphy. "but it seems there is a leak somewhere."

TOWN OF BILLERICA

Forest Flames Make Trouble for Fire Dept.

ST. ANNE'S MISSION HELD SUCCESSFUL PICNIC

St. Andrew's Church Planning Field Day to Be Held at Pinehurst Park Next Week

A brush fire, which burned over 100 acres of timber and brush kept the Billerica fire department busy for over 24 hours Saturday and Sunday. The blaze is said to have started from a spark from a passing engine and it was necessary for the railroad to send a crew of men from Boston to extinguish the flames.

The blaze started on land owned by John Finnegan, in North Billerica about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and it was fought by the North Billerica department for over three hours when another alarm was sent in and the apparatus of Billerica Centre responded. About 8 o'clock at night the flames were controlled and the departments returned, leaving the spot in the care of three or four men, who watched the forests until about nine o'clock in the morning when they were ordered off duty by Chief Bartlett.

Hardly had the men returned to the village when the fire broke out again and spread through the pine forests into East Billerica. Several camps in the vicinity of Long pond were threatened and the furniture was removed to other parts but none was destroyed. The loss will be considerable as some well grown timber was destroyed. John Finnegan of North Billerica will probably be the heaviest loser.

HAVOC WITH POTATO CROP

A Warning Against the
Tuber Moth

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Warning against a pest that threatens every dinner table in the land was issued today by the department of agriculture against the potato tuber moth, which is working havoc with the potato crop in numerous parts of this country and whose ravages threaten to prevent the planting of the vegetable in many places of the winter supply. The pest is especially prevalent in California and Texas, the department reports, and through shipments of early potatoes it is being introduced broadcast throughout the United States.

Experts of the bureau of entomology urge potato growers to look carefully over the potatoes they dig and destroy every potato and vine that shows the slightest sign of the moth.

CHECK FOREST FIRE

1000 Acres of Wood and

None of the buildings was damaged. The fire broke out last Tuesday and since that time more than 1000 acres of wood and brush land have been burned. A hundred firemen and volunteers fought the flames throughout the night.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

Seen and Heard

The prettiest girl in town may not be as attractive to you as the homely girl who smiles at you affectionately every time she meets you.

In the old days when the sailor came ashore he always hired a horse. Now he has to have an automobile. In a few years it will be a biplane.

It is always a question in the summer time whether it is better to buy a new refrigerator or to pay the plumber five dollars to fix the old one so that it will go another month.

If a girl can take an ear of corn and eat it and then go to a dancing school.

Just because a man gets seasick with his knife, you can't be absolutely certain that he comes from Chicago.

Don't sneer at the rich old party who invites you to go on a trip with him on an automobile trip, even though he offers to pay for the gas.

Yes, Millie, don't think other people are better than you. You do those things that they tell you to.

The girl who can't tell exactly what the young man to whom she is engaged said to her when he proposed is only lukewarm in her love.

When you see your landlady buying a wheel in the market in the morning, there is a good chance that you are going to have more spring chicken than day after tomorrow.

You can't believe all you hear, and you mustn't expect that other people will want to hear all you believe, or that they will believe all they hear you say.

The young man who can't get anybody else to love him can always buy a dog.

When a little man tries to look impressive, everybody wants to laugh.

Why not tell other people your troubles? You might as well be doing that as to have to listen while they are telling theirs.

Why should she? She is shapely

She doesn't mind the people

The true patriot always pays his taxes promptly without complaining, but there are very few true patriots anywhere in this broad land.

The young man who quotes poetry when he is talking to his girl may think that he is making an impression, when she is only trying not to laugh.

It doesn't matter so much if the stenographer can't read her notes, so long as the business man who dictated the letter has a good memory and can remember what he said.

Perhaps I'm old-fashioned
And don't belong to the past—
I don't know.
But, honest, I find
I'm really a flirt.

To a strange woman: "Madam, You're losing your skirt."
—Johnstown Democrat.

It may be I'm backward
And quite out of date,
But when I'm out walking
And across the Kale,
And see what she's wearing,
I'm forced to admit
I'm not every day
The skirt with the slit.

I guess I'm old-fashioned—
Perhaps I'm a chump;
But when I look at a bottle
Have taken a slump,
And a daze-like haze
Of back, it is bare,
I simply don't laud,
"Your pocket is bare!"

—Nashville Banner.

Perhaps I'm old-fashioned
And queer in my ways,
It may be my manners
Don't give you these days;
But I hate to suggest
With a profane cough,
"Pray pardon me, madam,
But your hair's coming off."

Perhaps I'm old-fashioned
And modest too far
But when I see women
Get on a street car
And they discuss
How they dress to keep cool
I inwardly cry
And feel like a fool.

Perhaps I'm old-fashioned
And dreadfully slow;
But when to a dance hall
I happen to go,
And see the contortions
Of tango and glissade—
Well, old-fashioned people
Feel safer outside.

EDITORIAL COMMENT
Insufficient

Boston Post: It is doubtful that inquiry into the awful holocaust at Birmingham, N. Y., will disclose any neglect of the requirements of the law regulating safety in factory buildings.

There were fire escapes; there were no locked exits; fire drills for the employees were frequent. But when the time came, all these precautions were instantly found to be insufficient.

Popularity
Haverhill Gazette: Popularity of the sort that comes from genuine worth is the thing which no wise and human person can profess to scorn.

Few things are more stimulating than the genuine approval or condemnation or esteem of our fellows. But these are not won by the person who sells his individual self-respect to attain them.

They come to the man or woman who has come to honest work and who in the long run proves somehow deserving by a standard to which none of us can quite attain, but which measures by sincerity and earnestness rather than by truckling patronage.

Duty Should Be Set
New Bedford Times: Whatever congress may decide to do about the differences in the house and senate schedules of the tariff, it would only be giving the business interests of the country their due in accordance when the matter is left to the tariff.

That this is not impossible is shown in the cases of sugar and wool, for which a definite date for the operation of the Underwood schedules has been set. Men interested in these two lines, consequently, are enabled to readjust themselves and their organizations to meet a situation they know is coming at a specific time.

Trains and Trolleys
Christian Science Monitor: There is a sense of relief perfectly apparent in the prospect that the street railways are not to be linked to the railroad.

Ordinary judgment, however, repressed by considerations of policy, has been all the time positive that the two services belonged in distinctive fields. The problem of the streetcar brings the old order of how to provide capital alone. There is occasion, and demand, that there be the most serious thought of the future, that the change shall also be progress and new service.

ON HER KITCHEN STOVE
It is interesting to note that the most successful remedy for woman's ills was originally prepared nearly forty years ago by Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., by steeping roots and herbs on her kitchen stove and supplied to friends and neighbors without cost. Her fame spread; the demand grew; and now many thousands of roots and herbs are used each year in order to supply this famous remedy which has proved such a marvelous success in controlling diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

Cardinal Gibbons
Boston Transcript: So strong a hold has Cardinal Gibbons upon the confidence and affection of the American people, irrespective of creed, that they dislike to think of him as growing old; still upon his 79th birthday, they can offer their sincere congratulations that the years have not dimmed his spirit or impaired those faculties which constitute the real man.

No Worry
Lawrence Telegram: There is no need to worry about what the members of congress do or do not do to the tariff among the millions of farmers in the west and south so long as the crop prospects continue as good as they are just now. No more do we hear any wild and woolly proposals from Kansas about that money and government pensions for everyone as in the days when the crops in the west consisted most of sand flies and grasshoppers.

Neutrality
Newport News: President Wilson's decision for absolute neutrality between the factions in Mexico, so that none shall obtain arms or ammunition from this country, means that Huerta will be deprived of the privileges previously accorded to Madero and that the United States is not disposed to recognize the present government in Mexico as rightly constituted.

The Public Pays
Salem News: Increased rates on the B. & N. are in prospect. Wages cannot be increased, and other expenses swollen, without raising up the dear public for aid, in the shape of higher fares and larger freight charges.

His Audiences
Fall River Globe: Secretary Bryan and the Chautauqua management appear to be profiting by the wide advertising his engagements which the latter have been receiving, judging from the reports of the size of the audiences that are attending his lectures. It looks as though the secretary of state might pick up enough on the side in this way to keep the wolf from the door this year.

ALICE L. DUHAIME
Congressman Reed's Secretary the Youngest With One Exception in New England Delegation

To be secretary to a congressman at the age of 21 is such an unusual thing in the eyes of most residents of Washington that when a young man of that tender age is appointed to such a responsible position he is made to feel that he has gone ahead rapidly.

Only too often he is made the lion of his own little set, to his detriment, and what was the making of a fine level-headed man turns out to be anything but what it was intended he should be.

Congressman Eugene E. Reed of the 1st New Hampshire district knew this, but he had so much confidence in Alice L. Duhaime that despite the latter's youth the congressman named Mr. Duhaime his secretary, just after he reached his majority. No one who knows Mr. Duhaime and has watched him in Washington has any fears for his future, as the appointment with which he has been honored does not in any way affect him.

Mr. Duhaime was born in Manchester, N. H., 21 years ago in 1892, which makes him the youngest member of the New England delegation of secretaries with the exception of Charles F. Gilmore, who was educated in St. George's Parochial school and graduated in French and English in 1905, receiving a scholarship for general excellence. For the next year Mr. Duhaime studied shorthand in a business college. He then entered the law office of Perkins & Delany of Manchester, N. H., and remained there until he was appointed secretary to Mr. Reed.

Private Secretary Duhaime is well known in Lowell as is Congressman Reed. The latter is a close personal friend of Hon. James B. Casey and was a guest here in March.

THEIR FIRST ANNUAL
Sons and Daughters of St. George Spent Pleasant Afternoon at Canobie Lake

The first annual joint outing of the Lowell lodges of the Sons and Daughters of St. George was held at Canobie Lake Saturday afternoon and the affair was a great success. One special car containing about 100 members and friends of the organization left Merrimack square about 1.15 and other members followed on regular cars.

The first event on the afternoon program was the baseball game between teams representing the Lowell and Lawrence lodges. The former boys easily defeated the aggregation from the down-river city by the score of 21 to 1. The other events and winners were:

100 yard dash, open, G. Nicholson, first; R. Nicholson, second. 50 yard dash, married women, Mrs. Elliott, first; Mrs. J. H. Broadbent, second. 50 yard dash, boys under 15 years: Geo. Dawson, first; F. Layton, second. 50 yard dash, single women, won by Frances Campbell, 100 yard dash, won by J. B. Taylor, first. E. Walker, second. Three legged race, open, G. and R. Nicholson. 50 yard dash, for girls, won by Harriett Elliott. Boys' shoe race: T. Joyce, first; A. Anderson, second. Potatoes race: J. Higgin, first; Charles Taylor, second. 100 yard dash for members: Harry Jensen, first; A. Copperthwaite, second; Pat men's race, 150 pounds or over: Won by Lewis Fielding. Hop-step-and-jump: won by J. Pickup. 50 yard dash for members over 50 years: Won by Thos. Smith.

After the sports the crowd visited the various amusements in the park. The committee having charge of the affair were: Waverly Lodge, Joseph Wilbur, N. W. Matthews, Jr., and Harry Jepson, and from Friendship and Merrimack lodges were: Sidney Copperthwaite, Robert Corbitt, Thos. Smith, John Raw, James Longworth and Joshua Jackson.

Mill Employees Outing
Mountain Rock park was the scene of the third annual outing of the employees of the Appleton and Tremont and Suffolk mills, which was held on Saturday afternoon. The weather was excellent for sunning off the list of state that had been arranged and the affair was a great success.

The baseball game between teams representing the two mills was a feature of the day. For twelve innings every man battled for victory and the Appleton team finally won by the score of 6 to 5. The feat of the day was the winning team of Fitcher Park.

At the close of the ball game the following events were carried out: 100 yard dash, won by J. Michael; Wm. McDermott, second, and J. Shields.

A long list of sports was run off and valuable prizes were awarded the winners of the different events. A feature of the day was the presentation to Mr. James Patterson of a gold watch and chain by his fellow beavers. Mr. Patterson who is about to retire from active work has been employed for many years as a beaver in the Massachusetts mills. A supper was served by Caterer James Wood and it was a merry party that returned to this city late Saturday night.

SOME BRUSH FIRES
State Lookout J. F. Hammond Picked Them Up With His Field Glasses and Notified Authorities

The towns of Harvard, Tyngsboro and Andover were all visited by brush fires last Saturday which in all probability would have been of a serious nature if State Lookout J. F. Hammond had not picked them up with his field glasses and notified the local authorities of their existence. Each of the three fires was quickly extinguished by the firemen of the district.

Facts in Nature

For centuries it has been known that Nature's most valuable health giving agents for the cure of disease are found in our American forests. Over forty years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the "Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y., used the powdered extracts as well as the liquid extracts of native medicinal plants, such as Bloodroot and Queen's root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Cherry bark and Mandrake, for the cure of blood diseases. This prescription as put up in liquid form was called and has enjoyed a large sale for all these years in every drug store in the land. You can now obtain the powdered extract in sugar-coated tablet form of your medicine dealer, or send 50c in one-cent postage stamps for trial box to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and tablets will be mailed, postage prepaid.

DR. PIERCE'S Golden Medical Discovery

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, red blood, invigorates the stomach, liver and bowels and through them the whole system. Skin affections, blotches, boils, pimples and eruptions—result of bad blood—are eradicated by this alterative extract—as thousands have testified.

Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only on a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, clothbound. ADDRESS DR. R. V. PIERCE, BUFFALO, N. Y.

IRISH LEADER IN AMERICA DEAD MILITARY MASS IN THE OPEN AIR

John O'Callaghan Succumbs After Illness of Only Two Days

BOSTON, July 28.—John O'Callaghan, secretary of the United Irish League of America and staff writer on the Boston Globe, died at the Carney hospital, South Boston, after an illness of less than two days, at 9.15 Sunday morning.

He was taken from his home in Brighton Friday evening to the hospital suffering from an intestinal trouble that had come on him very suddenly during the evening.

Mr. O'Callaghan had worked during the day Friday as usual, and complained of not feeling well. In the evening Dr. Henry V. McLaughlin was summoned and he ordered Mr. O'Callaghan's removal to the hospital at once.

Saturday night he seemed to be slightly improved, but early yesterday morning he began to sink, and his friends and relatives were hastily summoned. He was conscious until 19 minutes before he died.

With him at the time of his death were his brother, Patrick O'Callaghan, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie O'Callaghan; Michael J. Jordan, president of the Boston branch of the United Irish League; Dennis O'Reilly, Rev. Fr. Patrick J. Lyons, chaplain of the Carney hospital; Dr. Mahoney of the hospital staff and the sister superior of the hospital.

The funeral will take place Wednesday at 10 o'clock in the forenoon in St. Columbkille's church, Brighton. There will be a solemn requiem mass. John O'Callaghan was born in the town of Killybeg, County Cork, Ireland, Oct. 18, 1855, and was educated in the national school of that town. When a mere boy he went to the city of Cork and went to work on the Cork Herald as a reporter.

He mastered shorthand and after a brief period on the Herald he went to work on the Cork Examiner. The Parrell movement was well under way at this time and young O'Callaghan took an active interest in the movement. In fact, Cork was seething with the home rule question at that time.

He was also correspondent for the Dublin Freeman's Journal, and in his letters to that paper he did not hesitate to express his opinions of the political situation pretty freely.

After the Phoenix Park murders and the subsequent execution act in Ireland men like John O'Callaghan were under surveillance by the government, and he was not allowed much latitude in his work, so he came to America. In 1892 and 1893 the Boston Globe staff that year, acting as private secretary for the managing editor for a year or more before he took up staff work.

His first important newspaper work in America was in the gubernatorial campaign of William E. Russell. He went with the youthful governor through all three of his campaigns and aroused the admiration of Governor Russell by the thorough manner in which the work was done.

He also worked in George Fred Williams' campaigns, but besides these things he did a great amount of "all-round" newspaper work, especially large cases in the courts. He reported the Trefethen case in both trials, and the Bram trial.

All this time he kept in close touch with Irish affairs. When the old American Land league, that had been organized in New York in 1880 with John Boyle O'Reilly as president, had been merged into the United Irish League of America in 1902 at a great meeting in Faneuil hall, John O'Callaghan was elected secretary, and he held that office up to the time of his death.

Mayor O'Donnell's Tribute

Upon learning of the death of John O'Callaghan, this morning, Mayor O'Donnell said:

"As a personal friend of Mr. O'Callaghan, the news of his death came to me in the nature of a shock. On many occasions have I sat upon the same platform with him and listened spell-bound to his earnest and eloquent words in behalf of his beloved motherland; while it has been my pleasure to meet him in a social way when I have been charmed by his purity of thought, his eloquence of speech and the piquancy of his wit. By his death the Irish cause has sustained a deep loss. Through his devotion to that cause he was known and beloved by Irishmen the world over, and as he fares forth to the Great Beyond the prayerful well wishes of the great Irish race accompany him."

MATRIMONIAL

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the marriage of Mr. Joseph Denault and Miss Flora Forget was solemnized at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Charles Audibert, O. M. I. The witnesses were Onesime Forget and Marcel Denault. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 32 Pawtucket street, where a reception was held. The happy couple who were the recipients of numerous costly gifts left at 11.05 o'clock this forenoon on a wedding tour to Providence, Worcester and Pawtucket, R. I. They will return to this city Saturday, when they will be given a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 22 Farmland road. The couple will make their home in Franklin, Mass.

PATERSON STRIKE OVER

Strikers Lost $5,300,000 in Wages

PATERSON, N. J., July 25.—The silk strike is over but not all the strikers who left the mills 21 weeks ago were able to find work today. The manufacturers said they had all the hands they could use until they received orders withheld pending the settlement of the labor troubles. The central strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World has been delegated to make official declaration of the end of the strike tomorrow.

It is estimated that the strike cost the employees $5,300,000 in lost wages. The manufacturers lost their spring and summer orders and 21 small plants went to the wall.

REV. DENIS A. SULLIVAN, O. M. I.
Chaplain of the O. M. I. Cadets.

Will be Feature of the Annual Encampment of O. M. I. Cadets at Milligan's Grove

The final meeting of the O. M. I. Cadets preparatory to their departure to camp, tomorrow, will be held in the immaculate Conception school hall this evening. All plans for the week's encampment will be announced and instructions to the little soldiers will be given by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., Military Instructor Bernard McArdie, Physical Director Matt McCann and Major Haggerty.

Fr. Sullivan will also read a personal letter from Archbishop Anderson, in which the writer congratulates the cadets and authorizes their chaplain, Fr. Sullivan, to celebrate a military mass in the open air on next Friday. The local priest is elated over the authority to have the mass on the camp grounds and inasmuch as it will be the first Friday of the month, the young soldiers will receive holy communion in a body. The mass will be celebrated at 6.30 o'clock and all companies will assist at the services.

Bishop Anderson also extended his blessing to all members of the organization. This will be the first time that a mass has been celebrated on the grounds and the cadets as well as the cotons are grateful to the archbishop for granting the special privilege.

Tomorrow morning the baggage of the cadets will be shipped on a special electric car to the scene of the encampment at Milligan's grove, Wilmington. A number of the soldiers will go down in the morning and will pitch their tents. These will be in readiness by the noon hour.

At 12.30 o'clock the remaining members of the organization will assemble at the school hall, and will then march to the corner of Fayette and East Merrimack streets, where special electric lights will be bearded which later will proceed to the camp grounds.

Upon arriving at the "battleground," the companies will be assigned to their respective quarters and will remain there until next Saturday evening when camp will be broken and the return to the city made.

During the week a very interesting as well as instructive program will be carried out, and a large number is expected to visit the grounds and watch the boys go through their many maneuvers. The complete program will be decided upon at tonight's meeting and will be announced later.

St. Peter's Church
Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan celebrated the 11 o'clock mass at St. Peter's church yesterday and preached a short yet instructive sermon on the gospel of the day, admonishing the congregation to lead good and holy lives so as to merit the divine inspiration in the gospel, "He doeth all things well."

Next Friday, the first Friday of the month, the usual devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart will be held with masses in the morning at 5 and 7 o'clock. Confessions will be heard on Thursday afternoon and evening in preparation for the devotions.

The Knights of Columbus of Worcester have purchased the splendid Y. W. C. A. building in that city and will take possession in the fall. Mr. Bernard D. Ward, the efficient secretary of St. Peter's Holy Name society, has been elected alternate to the national convention of the Federation of Catholic Societies to be held in Milwaukee in August. Mr. Ward was a delegate from the Middlesex county branch, in whose affairs he has become quite prominent.

While it is yet early, it is stated on reliable authority that the Catholic societies of Manchester, N. H., are contemplating holding a monster parade on Columbus day on account of its being a local holiday in that state. In that event it appears to be the intention in Lowell that organizations here will be invited to participate. The magnificent showing made by the Manchester men here on March 29th can hardly be forgotten, say prominent workers in the Lowell societies, and hence if an invitation is sent to Lowell, the representation from here will no doubt be a creditable one.

heart's delight. No effort or expense has been spared to make the affair a memorable one in Tewksbury, and its success is assured. Arrangements have been made for special cars from Boston, Haverhill and Lawrence, and a fifteen minute schedule has been arranged between Lowell and Wilmington.

CURED TERRIBLE HUMOR ON FACE

Could Not Go On Street Without Veil. Tells What Resinol Did For Her

Philadelphia, Pa.—"In December, 1908, my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no benefit. The face and nose were very red and the eruption had the appearance of small boils, which itched me terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description."

"I have not gone on the street any time since 1908 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Resinol a trial. I have used three cakes of Resinol Soap and less than a jar of Resinol Ointment, and my face is perfectly free from any eruption, and my skin is as clear and clean as any child's. It is about four weeks since the last pimple disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. Bateman, 425 West St., Dec. 6, 1912.

Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Prescribed for eighteen years for itching, burning skin troubles, sunburn, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, and piles. Trial free; Dept. 2-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

So. Common is a Very Lively Spot

The public playgrounds throughout the city opened this morning for the fourth week of the season. Five weeks remain to continue the work, and it is expected that this will be a banner year for results on the playgrounds of Lowell.

The South common is a lively spot during the day and about 1400 children, boys and girls, make a daily visit to that place. The supervisors are on the grounds from 9 to 11 in the morning and from 2 to 4:30 in the afternoon and any boy or girl who visits that place between those hours is assured of proper care and instructions. Patrick J. Reynolds has charge of the grounds and he is assisted by Eugene Donovan during the afternoon.
The common is well equipped with athletic material and there are plenty of amusements for both boys and girls.
The girls enjoy the swings and sand-piles, while the boys use the baseball diamond, jumping stand, basket-ball oval and other equipment. A croquet set is placed on the side of the common and this game is very popular among both boys and girls.

Although the amusements are many none is near as popular as the game of baseball and many a youth sticks to the diamond all day with the hope of becoming a "Ty Cobb" in the future.
In the afternoon the boys are playing even ball games on the different parts of the common at one time and it is a busy period for the supervisors to see that every rule is strictly obeyed.

A feature which has been introduced this year and which attracts a large number of the younger boys is riding in the pool in the center of the common. The boys wade and play in the water, which is less than two feet deep, to their hearts' content and they are carefully watched over by those in charge of the playground.

An inter-playground baseball league is to be formed and teams from four grounds are to compete. The league games will be played daily on the different commons and already the boys are practicing in order to land the pennant in the league. Two teams will be picked from each common and while one is away the other will occupy the home grounds. Eugene Donovan, the former Lowell high school player, is coaching the team on the South common and there is no doubt but what a fast group of boys will represent that section of the city.

The girls sewing department that is located in the Eliot school with a few yards of the common is a busy spot during the forenoon and the youngsters are taught plain sewing and the more advanced ones are taught dressmaking. This department is in charge of Miss Tobin, a school teacher in this city and she also cares for the girls while on the playgrounds. Some useful articles are made by the girls and any child who is not supplied with a pair of bloomers may have them made to order by calling at the dressmaking room and making known her wants.
Three sewing machines are installed in the room and these are used by the girls under the personal direction of Miss Tobin. One of the rooms in the school is to be used to teach folk dancing and a dance arrived at the school today. This will be specialized two meetings a week.

It is planned to have a week-end exhibition on every Friday afternoon.
The boys and girls will be brought
